

Berger Directors OK Drain Plan Change

The Board of Directors of Berger Hospital approved the largest change order and authorized payment of the largest bill thus far incurred in the building of the new ancillary addition.

Jim McCowan, Leo Rovtar and W. E. Monks were present at the regular meeting of the board on Wednesday night with a revision of the original plans of the building project. The revision was concerned primarily with the drainage of the new area.

The group representing the Dan Carmichael Architectural firm presented several reasons for the change including the accessibility of the city sewer and the costs involved in following the original plans.

No city storm drainage is available to the area on the northeast side of the building and the only alternative the architectural firm had was to route the drainage system across the front of the hospital. Because of the problems and handicaps that would be caused if the line were placed across the parking lot, the architect, drew the plans to route the line across the front lawn.

Discussion from the board questioned the possibility of routing the lines in the obvious direction, between the hospital and the properties on Sharon Road. The representatives from the architect's office explained the space was limited in that area and existing utility lines there made that route nearly impossible.

The board agreed to accept the new plans as presented which would entail an additional $5,500 increase over the original bid. The board noted that this was the largest change order in the current construction. Up to this time, the changes have been minimal and were mostly involving changes in state regulations.

Two bills were also presented to the board for payment including $72,263.70 to Steward Construction Company and $11,700 to the Sauer Inc. The bill from the Sauer Company was for plumbing equipment on the site. Both bills were approved for payment and netted the largest single presentation of bills and also the largest single expenditure thus far incurred in the building project.

The finance report presented to the board showed a decline in occupancy and also a decline in revenue for the month of August. The month showed an occupancy of 59 per cent as opposed to 69 per cent during the same time last year. The occupancy running to date is 75 per cent which is below last year's figure through this time of 78 per cent.

Hospital administrator John Reid noted that there were only three more employees than one year ago. In conclusion of the finance report, it was brought out that 51 babies were born during the month, 74 operations performed, and 1,079 emergency room visits.

Reid also advised the board that the administrative staff was presently working on a financial sheet on the building project.

A resolution was passed to designate the earned interest income from funds presently on interest as part of the building fund.

The administrator's report continued with information on the hospital's liability insurance coverage. Reid said he had been informed he could obtain a $1,000 reduction in premiums and still have the same coverage with the same company. He also presented an alternate plan to the board which would allow the extra money which is already appropriated for insurance purposes to be used in an umbrella policy.

An umbrella policy would cost slightly less than the $1,000 and would provide a maximum coverage up to one million dollars. This type policy takes up where the present policy coverage is limited. The board authorized Reid to look further into the situation.

Reid advised the board $493 has come into the Mrs. Frank Bowling Memorial Fund.

Christmas gifts which are purchased annually by the board of directors for the hospital employees have been ordered.

It was also reported to the board that the hospital has a new employee, Mrs. Pamela Hatfield Smith. Mrs. Smith was hired as a surgical technician and has had experience with the open heart surgery team at the Brook Medical Center in Texas. Angie Kirchgessner will be moving to the emergency room department and Barbara Gerhardt, R. N. has been appointed to the position of medical supervisor.

A report to the board from Dr. Emily Lutz, president of the medical staff, presented applications for courtesy staff privileges. The board approved privileges to Dr. William Copeland, obstetrics and gynecologic surgery; Dr. George Smetters, pathology; Dr. Arthur A. Filiatraut, radiology. These doctors had already been approved for courtesy staff privileges by the medical staff.

The board acted on a bill of nearly $1,300 owed to the Circleville Herald. The bill had not been previously paid because it had been sent to the City Council members who thought it not their place to pay the bill and the Roose, Wade Company had also declined the invitation to pay it. Having routed the bill to all possible sources and still having it unpaid, the board voted on an amended motion to pay the amount due. Board member Bob Huffer amended the original motion to pay it by including a stipulation to ask the Circleville Herald for a contribution to the building fund.

Reid reported to the board on the recent industrial accident which occurred at the hospital. Ernie Pennington fell out of a tree while attempting to trim the trees. It was later discovered that the electric company will do the necessary trimming without charge.

A Cancer Care insurance plan was presented to the board for consideration in offering it to the employees as a payroll deduction. Board members voted to place the leaflet on the bulletin board for the employees inspection but not to offer it as a payroll deduction.

Ernst and Ernst, financial consultants of the hospital board, were appointed to perform the annual audit of the hospital's books and records.

The price list for items of equipment costing over $100 each were referred to the medical staff for approval and will be presented along with the staff's recommendations at the next meeting of the hospital board.

In conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Robert Liggett, new president of the general guilds gave a report. Mrs. Jenny Russell had recently resigned from the position of president due to health reasons. Mrs. Liggett advised the board the guilds are presently reorganizing for the fall. The Christmas bazaar is planned for Nov. 22.

HOSPITAL ADDITION—A progress report on the construction of the new ancillary addition to Berger Hospital has upped the latest completion date. Engineers have now set the date for completion at August of 1975. Steel reinforcements are now in place for the interior basement walls. The outside basement walls are complete. Waterproofing on both the inside and outside walls is presently being completed. The next step in construction is the digging of the drain pipes and the pouring of the interior slab on the basement floor.

Dangerous Drug Data Withheld?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading pharmaceutical firm is selling in almost every country except the United States a drug it has known for nearly 10 years causes ulcers in monkeys, a Senate committee has been told.

Subpoenaed testimony before a Senate health subcommittee also disclosed that Ciba-Geigy Corp. allegedly withheld adverse information about its "Slow-K" potassium supplement from the Food and Drug Administration until a former Ciba executive blew the whistle.

Slow-K is undergoing clinical trials in American patients now, pending FDA approval for marketing as a prescription drug in the United States.

The drug is designed to replace the potassium lost by patients taking diuretics for fluid loss. Some medical experts say orange juice and bananas achieve the same result.

Tulane University medical professor F. Gilbert McMahon, a Ciba vice president for three years, confirmed that it was he who tipped the FDA on May 26, 1972, of company studies showing that Slow-K caused gastric ulcers in monkeys.

Ciba had applied to the FDA on Aug. 27, 1971, for permission to conduct experimental studies with the drug prior to seeking marketing approval.

McMahon, who spent eight years with drug companies and 24 years in clinical pharmacology and human research, emphasized that he was appearing under subpoena and that he had no ax to grind with the FDA or the pharmaceutical industry.

The Ciba monkey studies had been performed by Dr. Albert Earl in early 1965. He left Ciba in 1969 after 21 years with the firm.

Introduced into the hearing record was a memo prepared for, but never signed by, Dr. J. Richard Crout, then director of the FDA's Office of Scientific Evaluation, recommending that legal action be considered against Ciba for not submitting the monkey studies.

FDA investigators sent to check out McMahon's tip were told by Ciba on Aug. 18, 1972, that the data had been overlooked, according to the memo prepared by Dr. E. DeVaughn Belton, then head of the FDA's team investigating cardiovascular drugs.

"Although we recognize that the firm eventually submitted the data, it is our opinion that the firm has violated the law by omission of 'material information...'" said the memo prepared by Belton.

Crout said on Wednesday he could not recall the memo or why he didn't send it to his predecessor at the Bureau of Drugs.

Nixon's Doctors Work On Blood Clot

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon rested quietly in a hospital today and the former president's doctor says he thinks the dime-sized blood clot in his right lung can be successfully treated.

A hospital spokesman revealed the clot had passed through Nixon's heart before lodging in the lung. If it had blocked a heart artery, it could have been fatal.

Nixon's physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, said on Wednesday that the clot was a "potentially dangerous situation but not critical at this time.... There is a very good chance of recovery, but it will take some time."

Nixon is expected to be hospitalized through next week, missing the Tuesday start of the Watergate cover-up trial in Washington for which he has been subpoenaed as a witness.

Lungren said Nixon took news of the gelatin-like clot "as he normally takes anything else — it's another problem." But the doctor added, "He has a hell of a will to live."

Such a clot — called an embolus — kills lung tissue around it. The size of the dead lung area in Nixon's case was not disclosed.

Several specialists not attending Nixon were asked their opinion on the severity of the clot.

"It's not life-threatening," Dr. Richard Lescoe, past president of the Los Angeles Lung Association, said of Nixon's clot.

A knowledgeable Washington, D.C., doctor warned, however, that "even though this clot doesn't seem to be severe, it doesn't mean it couldn't get worse. If a chunk of another clot broke off and got to the lungs ... that might be it."

The clot is being treated with anticoagulants in hope of dissolving it and preventing new clots from forming.

The clot reached Nixon's lung after breaking off a larger clot in his leg, where it had been created by persistent phlebitis, an inflammation of the vein, Lungren said. He said the greatest danger is that another clot might break off and move to a lung.

The mortality rate from pulmonary embolism varies greatly, according to medical sources. Depending on the primary cause, it can be anywhere from 1 per cent to 80 per cent fatal, they said.

Lungren said stress and fatigue suffered by Nixon since he resigned the presidency "may be a factor" in Nixon's physical problems.

But he suggested other causes are possible — simple inactivity or hypercoagulability of the blood (a strong tendency to clot) or even malignancy, including leukemia. He said tests were being performed.

Mary Prentice, a hospital spokeswoman, said the clot was small enough to easily pass through one of the two main pulmonary arteries that connect the heart to the lungs. If it had been large enough and lodged in the artery, death could have occurred in a few minutes or a few hours.

Nixon has had trouble with his leg and phlebitis for many years, and the lung clot indicates the circulatory ailment will continue to plague him. "He's going to be bothered with this the rest of his life," one New York lung specialist said.

The 61-year-old Nixon has no chest pain from the clot, Lungren said. Nixon entered Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach on Monday for a stay then expected to last seven days.

Nixon's wife, Pat, has been visiting her husband daily, driving to the hospital from their seaside villa in San Clemente, 50 miles south of Long Beach, a hospital official said.

Telephone calls, letters and telegrams continued to pour into the hospital, most expressing encouragement.

taxpayers through a change that would extend to some unearned income, such as dividends and rents, the maximum 50 per cent tax rate that now applies to earned income such as salaries. Some unearned income may now be taxed at up to 70 per cent.

—Curb tax shelters, especially in the real estate field where these are extensively used by investors.

—Create a new minimum tax on the rich, which would be an alternate tax to be paid only if the liability is larger than the wealthy person's regular taxes due.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If this year's big tax bill survives heavy cross-fire in Congress, many average Americans will get a tax cut while oilmen will see an old tax-saving friend, the depletion allowance, slowly die.

But all sides in the tax bill battle agree that's an extremely big "if," because the legislation is in trouble. Friends are having a tough time finding and keeping a consensus, while some strange-bedfellow enemies may just gang up and kill it quickly.

As the bill presently stands after many months of voting by the House Ways and Means Committee, but with many controversial items subject to change before the panel's final decisions in the next few weeks, chief provisions would:

—Hike taxes for the oil industry, mainly by phasing out the percentage depletion allowance that has been a fixture in tax law since the 1920s and which saves petroleum producers $2 billion to $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

—Cut taxes for many individuals by increasing the maximum standard deduction from $2,000 to $2,500; by boosting the minimum standard deduction that benefits low-income persons from $1,300 to $1,400 for singles and $1,500 for couples; and by creating a new "simplification" deduction of up to $650 for people who itemize.

—Benefit some upper-bracket

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 13-year-old political committee set up for newly appointed presidential aide Donald Rumsfeld did not register under the 1972 federal campaign reporting law until it went out of business this year, documents on file with the Senate show.

Rumsfeld's former campaign manager said the committee was not required to file under the law that took effect April 7, 1972. But officials charged with monitoring the act said the committee should have registered, if not when the law took effect, at least by 1973 when it took preliminary soundings on a possible Rumsfeld race for the Senate in Illinois.

Rumsfeld, a former House member who resigned from Congress in 1969 to join the Nixon administration, was due in Washington today for his new —Ease taxes on capital gains, meaning profits from sales of assets such as securities or real estate held a certain length of time.

Over-all, staff experts said it will be next week before firm estimates on the revenue gains and losses for the Treasury are ready for presentation to the committee. But they guess there would be a net $400 million gain for the government when the bill's features take effect.

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is pushing to get a bill passed by the House before the planned mid-October recess for the November elections. But the committee is deeply split over the major features such as the proposed boost in oil industry taxes.

Still pending are moves to reconsider such things as the new minimum tax on the wealthy, and a suggestion that a way be provided so that no federal taxes would have to be paid by a head of a household earning up to $3,200, or by others on a scale ranging to a married couple with four children and annual earnings of $6,500.

assignment as an assistant to President Ford. He is to serve as coordinator of the White House staff and schedule. He has been U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Rumsfeld could not be reached for comment on the political committee, initially created in 1961 for the first of his four campaigns for the House.

Reports filed last February show that the Rumsfeld Committee had a balance of nearly $20,000 at the beginning of 1969. It had some income primarily from interest, and spent nearly $10,000 in closing out 1968 House campaign expenses before the reporting law took effect.

The law says a political committee must register if it "anticipates receiving contributions or making expenditures" of more than $1,000 during a calendar year.

Chicago attorney Donald Lowitz, who served as Rumsfeld's campaign manager in four successful House races between 1962 and 1968, said the committee wasn't required to register because it didn't anticipate receiving or spending money, since Rumsfeld had resigned Congress and was serving in appointive positions in the Nixon administration.

However, committee records on file here say: "In 1973, the committee began to consider the possibility of its proposing that Mr. Rumsfeld be a candidate for the United States Senate from the State of Illinois in the 1974 election."

The unit had a professional opinion poll conducted and arranged to hire an office manager but decided not to pursue a Rumsfeld senatorial campaign.

It paid $10,000 in outstanding bills, taxes and final accounting fees, contributed $3,057 to the U.S. Treasury and went out of business on Feb. 4. A final accounting of its activities for the previous five years was received by Secretary of the Senate Francis R. Valeo on Feb. 8.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Disappointment over the failure of a rally attempt Wednesday left the stock market weak and listless today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.70 to 640.25, and losers outpaced gainers by about 7 to 2 in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted considerable pessimism on Wall Street over the market's prospects in the wake of its failure to sustain a brief rally Wednesday that greeted a cut in the prime lending rate by a series of banks, including two of the largest in the country.

Pan American World Airways was the NYSE volume leader, down 1/4 at 2 1/2. A 103,000-share block traded at 2. On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .65 at 65.27.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was off .52 to 35.09.

Vintage Enterprises was the Amex volume leader, down 1/2 at 2.

Community Fund Drive Detailed To Red Cross

Dr. James River, campaign chairman gave a detailed report of the Pickaway County Community Fund Drive at Wednesday's meeting of the American Red Cross Board of Directors.

He stated that every effort is being made by the volunteer captains to reach the goal of $93,000 which will finance ten agencies during 1975.

Plans for completing a detailed Disaster Plan for Pickaway County were outlined. John Leist, disaster chairman, will be organizing a plan which will include assistance from all other interested community agencies. Mrs. James Fosnaugh, local registered nurse attended a session on Disaster Nursing at the Columbus division and Mrs. Fred Tammany and Mrs. Roloff Wolford from the local Red Cross, along with Mrs. Ellis Norman from the Department of Public Welfare, attended a workshop on Disaster Welfare Inquiries recently.

Three additional training meetings regarding immediate assistance, shelter management, and survey are planned for later in the fall. Anyone who is interested in disaster planning is encouraged to attend these meetings. Hopefully, a workable disaster plan can be devised as a result of these training sessions.

The Blood Program committee announced that a very successful Blood Visit in Tuesday collected 177 units of blood. Due to this and 2 extra visits at Orient State Institute, the county is now well above the quota for the year to date. The Regional Blood Committee will meet at a German Village Sausage House on October 9. Mrs. Royce Woolever will represent Pickaway County on the Regional Committee during 1975. Belinda Seimer and Cindy Hamman, youth volunteers, who attended Leadership training center at Otterbein College gave informative reports regarding their experience and expressed the hope that they will be better equipped for leadership roles in their schools and communities as a result of the conference.

Lowell Ferguson, first aid chairman, reported that eight new Standard First Aid and Personal Safety instructors were recently trained and will be available to teach classes in the Community. Another class is planned to start in October.

Ohio Crop Losses Said $356 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Drought, heavy rains and an early killing frost have lopped an estimated $356 million off this year's anticipated farm income in Ohio from soybeans, corn and tomatoes.

That's the report from C. William Swank, executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Swank said Ohio farmers have lost about $100 million in soybeans, $250 million in corn and $6 million in tomatoes.

"I based those figures on the current market prices for the crops and the drop from spring estimates of the yield," he said.

He said soybeans, currently selling for $7.50 a bushel, are down 13 million from spring predictions, while corn, with a market price of $3.35 a bushel, is off 75 million bushels.

Tomato production, he said, is 100,000 tons less than expected. Tomatoes are currently bringing about $60 a ton.

"The only unfair part of those estimates is that had we come in with a full crop, prices might have been lower," Swank added.

Swank said the tomato crop was the hardest hit by the unseasonable cold weather that marked the first day of autumn Monday.

"Frost took just about all the remaining tomatoes, which were about a third of the total year's crop," he said. "But I would guess only about 5 to 10 per cent of the soybean crop and 5 per cent of the corn were affected by the cold."

After a long dry spell during the summer, followed by heavy rains, farmers had hoped for a late frost.

"Three or four more weeks of good weather would have helped things," said Swank.

He said he wouldn't call this year's weather especially unusual.

"Farmers have had bad seasons before," he said, "but there's been more public interest in the food situation this year because of inflation. We're going to see food prices jumping around considerably this winter."

Easter Seal Child Selected

Action Plan Explained At Public Hearing

Officials from District Six of the Ohio Department of Transportation presented their Action Plan for Pickaway County during a public meeting held in the Common Pleas Courtroom Wednesday.

The purpose of the hearing was to find out what the local community felt were the primary transportation needs.

Wayne Kauble, design and planning engineer for District 6, and Bernard Hurst, director of District 6, both commented on the availability of highway financing, both for maintenance and new construction.

According to Hurst there will be $18 to $20 million less than anticipated available for the current calendar year. He blamed the reduction of highway money available directly on the energy crisis. In addition to the reduction of funds, costs have gone up substantially over the past year, making curtailment of the overall highway program necessary.

Hurst said the number one priority in the program is maintenance. The number two priority is given to construction of interstate highways where 90 per cent matching federal money is available.

Proposed state highway projects in Pickaway County include:

Three sections of Route 104 for replacing inadequate bridges and straightening curves; Route 22 by pass of Circleville, straightening of Route 56 in Saltcreek Twp., widening Route 674 from Route 752 to Marcy Road, replace bridge over Darby Creek on State Route 762.

None of the proposed projects have a time schedule established.

Local citizens and officials speaking at the meeting were:

Robert Liston and Dick T. Tootle, county commissioners; Ned Harden, chairman of the planning and zoning commission; John Evans, who spoke out against the proposed Route 22 bypass; Martha Poling, who sought more state funds for rural roads; and a senior citizen concerned about public transit system for the community.

A Page Of Opinion

Nostalgia Binge

Nostalgia has the nation in its grip, or so one might assume by viewing the contemporary scene. You pick up a newspaper, and what do you find? Probably a picture of a building which was torn down 50 years ago (but which, the implication is, should have been preserved for posterity). Women's publications are likely to have pictures showing how grandma cooked with primitive tools. Or a show of antique automobiles attracts thousands, and one of the old masterpieces changes ownership for $79,000. Is there an old steam locomotive which can get up a little pressure without blowing the train apart? That's the thing to ride behind, cinders and all. Hobbies which have nostalgic roots are constantly expanding as new categories are added. One man (or woman) may copy funny inscriptions, complete with misspellings, from tombstones. A Texas man has the largest collection of wooden printers' type ever assembled. The list is constantly being lengthened as new hobbies spring up.

Book A Grand Slam

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, — This celebration of the 30th anniversary of the massive jump into occupied Holland of about 35,000 Allied paratroops and glider-borne infantry is also a literary tea. It coincides with the publication of Cornelius Ryan's newest and, to put it forlornly, probably last book. It is titled "A Bridge Too Far," published by Simon and Schuster, and will sell mountains of copies in hard and soft covers in more than a dozen languages.

There has never been anything like this in the annals of book promotion. Hemingway was never hailed in Spain after "For Whom the Bell Tolls," or in Cuba after "The Old Man and the Sea" as Connie has been embraced in Holland for his recognition of the valiant role the generally forgotten Dutch underground played in the liberation of their country. Thomas Mann missed kudos in post-war Germany. Solzhenitsyn will never have a ticker tape parade in Moscow. Quentin Reynolds and Ed Murrow were sometimes discreetly applauded when they entered the Savoy Grille in London during the early days of Britain's lone stand against Hitler.

But that was nothing compared to the reception Ryan, a foine broth of a Dublin boyh, has received here this past week. The stores are stuffed with copies of his book. He has worn himself extra-ragged at receptions and press conferences and autograph sessions since his arrival. The schedule he has kept, with the help of his cane and his fabled overdose of guts, would have killed Brian Boru (and King Kong too). Connie has been dying of bone cancer since about the time he was halfway done with his book. That was three years ago. He has difficulty making it from the time he gets up in the morning until dusk and his pills enable him to blotter a day of pain. It had nothing to do with the promotion of his finest book (finer than ever "The Longest Day" and "The Last Battle") when he hobbled across the public square in Eindhoven at a 30th anniversary of Dutch liberation the other night. But it was so gallant a gesture, since he should have been in bed, that I for one was moved to cheers. And tears.

It is the hope of Prince Bernhard, the savviest consort left on a planet that is divesting itself of the luxury of royalty, that Ryan's book will stimulate interest in this landmark of World War II resistance, survival, and victory. Connie's book about the invasion of Normandy did just that among tourist-minded survivors and their families. The prince's hopes are built on the quicksands of the current world recession, best illustrated by the giddy drop in American overseas tourism to Europe. The price of survival, shelter, food and drink remain relatively modest in Holland, compared to France and Britain and others. You can go to Yosemite a bit cheaper. But if you did, you'd miss a voyage on KLM's profit-making 747; Volendam's miniature of a way of life that was old before the Dutch established New York; a chance to behold acres and acres of Delft, far reaches of blindingly beautiful tulips, and blondes, windmills that actually work, more canals than even the great Venetian Marco Polo could have envisioned, and the tragic little place where Anne Frank tried to hide.

Try to make it sometime, if only for the thick pea soup with large slabs of sausage — on which Ryan and others survived one 12-hour day of exhausting hospitality.

Col. Brian Montgomery was here for the 30th anniversary, though he served in Malaya in World War II. He was here to represent and, occasionally,

Business World

By WILLIAM R. LOG
Associated Press Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — "Buy now, pay later" sales, long the way of commercial life for Brazilian shoppers and merchants, is losing status in this business-oriented country.

Statistics from credit bureaus show a growing "pay never" pattern in retail trade.

Rio's Credit Protection Service says it has files on 1.5 million shoppers, and 900,000 of them are classified as poor credit risks.

The Credit Bureau, in nearby Niteroi, says it has 200,000 negative files among a listing of 500,000 installment buying customers.

In Sao Paulo, Brazil's biggest and richest city, the Credit Bureau says its negative responses to merchants' credit queries totaled 430,000 in the first six months of 1974 — up from 331,000 in the first half of 1973.

Brazilian store owners expressed concern about the trend in a recent national meeting here.

"The increase in negatives is a result of the difficulties the people have in meeting their obligations," said Oscar Gimenez, coordinator of the conference. "The bad payer also exists to a large extent because of the ease of buying with credit, without planning the possibilities of paying."

Most Brazilian clothing, appliance, variety and department stores all advertise their prices broken down into monthly installments. About 70 per cent of all sales by such stores are made on credit.

Gimenez said this publicity often makes credit terms look easy, even to low-income shoppers. But he said when the buyer has to choose between meeting an installment and buying food, the installment goes unpaid.

Additionally, the Store Owners' Club of Rio reported that total retail sales in August were down nearly 10 per cent from August of the previous year.

defend his fabled brother — chief architect of the attempt to end the war in '44 by throwing Allied paratroops against the bridges that led to the Ruhr, and beyond.

The colonel is a placid little man with none of the braying arrogance of his brother, the Viscount. He has written a book titled "A Field Marshal in the Family," which will be published by Taplinger in New York next spring. He didn't seem certain, while here, that his overpowering brother would be amused.

"I was the youngest of nine Montgomery children," he said rather wistfully. "I never had a pair of my own pants until I went to Sandhurst."

Dutch journalism reached its crest during the occupation, when a local editor added a precious (and dangerous) line to a Nazi communique which had scoffed at the effectiveness of an RAF raid. The communique said, in effect, "Thanks to German ground fire they were driven away. The only hit they scored was on a cow."

The Dutch editor wrote a brave postscript. It read: "The cow burned four days."

Sen. Mondale Studies Race For President

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale says he is "99 per cent" certain he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

In appearances before the Minnesota AFL-CIO and the news media Tuesday night, the Minnesota Democrat stopped short of formally announcing his candidacy.

"I'm very strongly inclined to do it. I probably will do it," he told a news conference.

"I'm 99 per cent of the way there, but I have not yet decided... I'm not trying to be coy, but I have not yet decided to run," Mondale said.

He declined to set a date for making a formal entry into the race.

In a 30-minute appearance before the state AFL-CIO convention, Mondale referred briefly to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's announcement Monday that the Massachusetts Democrat would not be a presidential candidate in 1976.

"The developments yesterday encourage me even more to believe that this is an idea that just might be possible," Mondale said. "I'm not kidding myself. It's going to be a long, tough road and I'm going to need a lot of help."

While Mondale was speaking to the AFL-CIO, Minnesota's other senator, 1968 Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey, told a Minneapolis news conference he would give Mondale a "ringing" endorsement at the labor convention today.

Humphrey said Mondale has a good chance of getting the nomination because he is well respected by his colleagues in Congress.

Mondale's appearance before the AFL-CIO came only a few hours after the convention adopted a resolution supporting a presidential bid by him.

Mondale said he intends to continue his heavy travel schedule this fall before making a final decision. He has visited about 20 states since January.

Electric Power Costs Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has taken a first step that could lead to lower electric-power rates for American consumers.

It approved a bill authorizing a three-year, $4-million study by the Federal Power Commission to determine whether and how the current pricing system should be changed.

The legislation is aimed at the "declining-block-rate" system under which the more power is consumed, the less is paid per unit. A key element of the FPC study would be the feasibility of a peak-pricing system. Under this method, a user would pay less for electricity at certain hours of the day.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Doctors frequently hear their patients say they tend to get sick when their resistance is low.

This observation is valid. The whole concept of body resistance is a complicated phenomenon playing an active part in the prevention of illness, the cure of illness and the maintenance of good health.

Body resistance to illness and natural immunity depend on many factors. Experts in every field of medicine, genetics, chemistry and bacteriology are intrigued by the limitless variation of the body's defense mechanism.

Scientists have been exploring every possibility that will augment the body's natural reserve and resistance.

Rapid chilling of the body or excessive fatigue devitalizes the body's ability to resist infection. Malnutrition and vitamin deficiencies, endocrine and circulatory problems interfere with body's capacity to counter bacterial invasion.

Certainly, emotional disturbances, anxiety and stress are considered important in lowering resistance.

The newer knowledge of nutrition, the understanding of the relationship between the body and the mind, adequate rest and diversion, controlled exercise, and the careful use of leisure all add their contribution to man's own inherited body defense against infection and illness.

The relaxation of card playing sometimes turns out to be of greater physical and emotional pressure than one suspects. When tempers flare, tranquility and harmony may suddenly disappear.

A study done on a group of card players showed that the heartbeat and the pulse rate fluctuated and increased during the exciting moments of the game.

An interesting finding by a doctor who studied this facet of living showed that there are definite changes in the blood pressure during critical moments of the game.

Almost every card player has made the psychological observation that sleeplessness often follows the exhilaration of an active card game.

Let us not leave the card game without offering the suggestion that the room be well ventilated and cleared of concentrated smoke at regular intervals.

Ford Men Move Into Top Positions

WASHINGTON (AP) — His White House high command reorganized, President Ford now is looking to put his stamp on the balance of the administration he inherited from Richard M. Nixon.

One top adviser, Philip Buchen, said in an interview that a major shakeup of economic policy organization is underway, with longtime Ford associate L. William Seidman slated for a permanent, high-level post in that area.

Seidman, a millionaire accountant from Ford and Buchen's home town of Grand Rapids, Mich., is highly regarded by the President for his management creativity. He now is winding up a temporary job as architect of Ford's economic summits.

Buchen would disclose only that Seidman likely will inherit some of the duties of economic counselor Kenneth Rush, who is leaving the White House for a diplomat post. Seidman would not comment.

At the same time, Buchen indicated, Ford will sharpen his scrutiny of the rest of the federal bureaucracy, looking for allegiance and initiative in departments and agencies that lost impetus in the waning months of the Nixon presidency.

Meanwhile on Tuesday, Ford announced the appointment of Donald Rumsfeld, 42, a former House colleague who now is ambassador to NATO, as a presidential assistant responsible for coordinating White House operations.

Aside from the pending announcement on Seidman, Rumsfeld's appointment virtually completed reorganization of the White House staff. Now, of the six men closest to the President, each with an office near his, only one is a Nixon holdover, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Rumsfeld is to go to work Friday, succeeding Alexander M. Haig Jr., but without either the title or the sweeping powers that Haig and his predecessor, H.R. Haldeman, once held as chiefs of staff.

Robert Hartmann, the speechwriter-counselor who sits next to the Oval Office, said Rumsfeld's duties would be "more in character of an administrative assistant, a guy who runs the office."

"Nobody will be No. 1 on the White House staff," Hartmann said. "All six of us will be No. 2s, without any particular pecking order, all with free access to the President."

Laundromat No Go-Go Joint

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Francis Solomon, who police said walked into a laundromat, took off his clothes and put them in a washer, was found guilty of disorderly conduct on Tuesday.

Defense attorney Raymond Phoenix argued that there was no one in the laundromat except a police officer. But police said there were about 10 women outside the window.

"Heaven knows, there are an awful lot of go-go places where it doesn't provoke a disturbance," Phoenix said.

But Milwaukee County Judge Patrick Madden, who fined Solomon $75, noted the laundromat was not a go-go establishment.

AMA Group Leading Lobbyists

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The head of the largest political money operation in the nation is not ensconced in a plush Manhattan or Washington office.

He is a 50-year-old physician from Kettering, a Dayton suburb.

Dr. W. J. Lewis, a general practitioner, is chairman of the American Medical Association's Political Action Committee.

So far this year AMPAC has spent $1,775,530 on politics. This includes $515,800 transferred to other committees, primarily state medical political action committees, reports filed with the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives disclose.

As of May 29, AMPAC reported $1.8 million in its treasury. This was the highest amount of any political action committee reporting. The dairy lobby was second with a reported $1.6 million on hand.

Despite its generous contributions to candidates, Dr. Lewis reports AMPAC "is not a lobbying organization at all." AMPAC, he said, "is trying to help good men get elected. It is not interested in specific legislation as such."

The decisions on which congressional and state candidates will be supported are almost always made by the political action committees of state medical associations, he said.

The Ohio group has already given $5,000 to U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr., of Urbana and $3,000 to Thomas N. Kindness of Hamilton, candidate for congressman in the 8th District. Both are Republican conservatives who oppose liberal-backed government health insurance plans.

Dr. Lewis said his organization has no position on the Kennedy-Mills bill to establish government health insurance, but he, like many doctors and the American Medical Association opposes the measure.

AMPAC's fund raising is voluntary, Dr. Lewis said. Members are told they may earmark $25 from annual dues for political action. A 12-member state board of the Ohio Medical Political Action Committee decides who will get the money in Ohio.

"We don't solicit anybody directly," said Dr. Lewis. "It is all very voluntary."

One-third or more of Ohio's doctors now contribute to the fund, Dr. Lewis estimated.

Columnist To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Syndicated columnist Joseph W. Alsop has announced plans to retire at the end of the year after 42 years as a newsman.

The 63-year-old Alsop, a leading Washington observer, announced his decision in a column for today's newspapers. He told a reporter he would continue to write an occasional column after retirement on New York's Day and planned an around-the-world trip.

He became a newsman in 1932 and started a syndicated Washington column, The Capital Parade, in collaboration with Robert E. Kintner in 1937. After World War II service in China, Alsop began a new column with his younger brother, Stewart, which ran until 1958 when Stewart joined the staff of the Saturday Evening Post magazine.

Since then, Alsop's column, distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate, has been a solo effort. Stewart died of leukemia last May 26.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby Tries To Date

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday the man across the street came up to me while I was outside and said, "Where is your old man?"

I said, "If you mean my husband, he is at work. Why do you want to know?"

Then he said, "Because your husband has been calling up my old lady and trying to get her to go out with him."

I didn't know what to say next, so I said, "Well, he'll be home in about an hour. Why don't you come back and talk to him?" Then I went into the house and cried.

When my husband came home, I told him what happened. He said it was all a big lie, but he looked nervous and took off right away saying he'd be right back. He called me up later to say he wouldn't be home for supper.

Meanwhile, the man from across the street came over again, asking for my husband. He said my husband had called up his wife again and asked her to say she must have been mistaken that the guy who was trying to get her to go out with him was somebody else.

I don't know who to believe, Abby. If my husband had stayed home and faced his neighbor like a man, I would have had more faith in him. What do you think?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I think your husband has a lot of explaining to do.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a lovely woman. She has two daughters, 15 and 17. They are fine girls, but they go around the house half nude. They stand around in the kitchen in their shorty nightgowns with nothing on underneath, and often run through the house with nothing on top and very little below.

I asked the girls to please keep themselves covered, for the sake of modesty, and they looked at me like I was out of my mind.

My wife says there is nothing shameful about the body. I am now wondering if maybe I am wrong.

I can't help thinking that those young ladies should change their ways instead of me changing my ideas.

OLD GOAT

DEAR GOAT: You're not wrong. They are.

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "stuck with the kids" could have been written by me. Fresh out of college, I got a dream job. Then marriage, and boom! Two kids, one right after the other. (Both accidents.) I resented them terribly for robbing me of my freedom. Then I felt guilty because I couldn't "love" them like a mother should.

I never hurt my kids physically, but emotionally I was destroying them and myself.

I tried alcohol, drugs, even suicide. I wrote to you as a last resort, and your answer sunk in. I lucked out with a terrific psychiatrist.

I'm glad you "stuck" that a seemingly overwhelming situation can be dealt with and to get professional help but fast! I pray that she does. It was my salvation. Thank you, Abby.

MR. AND MRS. TONY LEE BETTS

Nuptial Vows Exchanged In Zion Methodist Church

Zion United Methodist Church of Ashville was the setting for the 1:30 p.m., June 8th, wedding of Miss Sherry Kay Pennington and Mr. Tony Lee Betts.

The Rev. John Currans officiated the double ring service for the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pennington, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Dell J. Mumaw, Route 2, Ashville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Betts, 151 Nicholas Drive, Circleville.

Miss Wanda Pennington, organist, played a program of nuptial selections and accompanied herself as she sang "The Last Time Ever I Saw Your Face." Jack Lemon, vocalist, sang "The Lord's Prayer." The church was decorated with arrangements of white, yellow and purple mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. William Pennington of Circleville. She was attired in a gown of white chantilly lace with an empire bodice featuring a sheer yoke and high neckline with Juliet sleeves. The full floor length skirt was of tiered lace edged in sequins with a chapel train at the back. The bride's bouffant veil of illusion was held by a lace profile. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses with fern atop a white Bible. Her accessories were white pearl earrings and a heart-shaped necklace centered with a pearl.

Miss Judy Wilder was maid of honor in a gown of rainbow dotted violet Venice lace with a square neckline edged in lace, bishop sleeves and gathered skirt with a flounce at the bottom. She wore a white braided picture hat with blue ribbon and carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped in lavender.

Miss Janet Bell, Miss Linda Leatherwood, Miss Anita Archer, Miss Becky McCain and Miss Raven Jackson were bridesmaids. They were gowned identically to the honor attendant in aqua, orange, maize, Nile green and blue respectively. Their bouquets of white carnations were tipped to match their gowns.

book. They were gowned as the maid of honor in blue and wore corsages of pink tipped white carnations.

The bride's grandmother was attired in a long sleeveless dress of aqua with white accessories. Mrs. Betts chose a long light green dress with long sleeves ending in white cuffs. The bodice featured a square neckline with a white collar. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the social rooms of the church followed the ceremony. Gold wedding bells trimmed the tables covered with white cloths. The gift table held three white wedding bells with streamers of orange, blue, yellow and pink, tied in bows at the edge.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jo Pennington, Mrs. Lori Scurlock, Mrs. Janie Tomlinson, Miss Jeannie Pennington and Miss Sandi Tomlinson.

Manpower Bill To Require Volunteer Medical Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2-billion manpower bill that would require one-fourth of all medical students receiving federal aid to work in volunteer medical service has been passed by the Senate.

Approved Tuesday and sent to the House, the measure would require each medical school receiving federal aid to set aside 25 per cent of its enrollment slots each year for students who would volunteer to serve in an area with a shortage of physicians.

A broader proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was defeated after opponents denounced it as a domestic draft of all medical school graduates for national service.

Kennedy argued that Washington has poured billions into aid for medical schools and scholarships and loans for medical students.

Therefore, he said, it is fair to ask all of the graduates to serve for two years in a shortage area. If the Health, Education and Welfare Department found that not all were needed, a lottery would have been used to select those to serve under the Kennedy plan.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., contended this proposal was much too drastic. He offered the substitute, which was approved to finance training of doctors and other health professionals for the next three years.

The volunteers would get scholarships and pay for loans to pay for their education. They would perform one year of service for each year they received scholarship aid.

The Beall measure also seeks to put some controls on the large numbers of foreign-trained doctors in the U.S.

It would require that these physicians pass written and oral tests similar to those taken by American-trained doctors and that they be proficient in English.

It does not contain the provision for federal licensing of all doctors, which Kennedy had proposed.

The volunteer service would be performed in such areas as rural communities and innercity neighborhoods.

Fish Stocking Being Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly three-quarters of a million fish will be stocked in the state's lakes and streams this fall, the Department of Natural Resources announced today.

About 150,000 coho fingerlings will be stocked this year, compared to 93,000 in 1973. A total of 31,000 coho were stocked in 1968 when the program began.

Other fish put into the state's waterways are nine-inch muskie fingerlings, largemouth bass, channel catfish and muskellunge.

World Grain Supply Unusually Tight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world grain supply has been reduced to the point where it is unusually tight because of harvest declines in the United States, Soviet Union and other key countries, the Agriculture Department says.

Officials said the situation as of mid-September indicates significant downward revisions from crop estimates made Aug. 20.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service said the revisions included declines in grain harvest for the Soviet Union, down 5 million metric tons; Western Europe, down 2.1 million; Canada, down 3.4 million; and other countries, down about 2 million tons.

"Projected world wheat production in 1974 has been lowered from 360.5 million tons to 351.6 million tons, reflecting primarily reduced harvest prospects in the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union," the report said Tuesday.

It noted, however, that wheat production in Europe is up 2.4 million tons over the August projection. Production of coarse grain, including corn, was estimated at 581.8 million tons, down from 585.3 million a month ago. Most of the decrease was attributed to reduced harvest in Canada, Western Europe, India and the People's Republic of China.

Feedgrain output in the United States, the world's largest producer, improved the past month and is expected to total 160.8 million tons, up from 158.9 million in August.

The cutback in wheat prospects points to a smaller world reserve during 1974-75 instead of a "modest increase" which was anticipated in August, officials said.

Residential Gas Rates To Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. said Wednesday residential customers in 62 Ohio counties can expect a $2.57 increase in their average monthly bill by December.

A pending rate hike of 6.4 per cent, effective Dec. 1, was disclosed Wednesday in a meeting with Columbus city officials.

This boost follows an 8.3 per cent increase in gas rates announced Aug. 30 and scheduled to go into effect next Wednesday.

A Columbia Gas spokesman said the first hike will cost home users about $1.47, while the December increase will raise customers bills an additional $1.10.

The two increases will bring the average monthly bill for residential customers to $20.21, he said.

The new rates also affect commercial users.

Columbia Gas Chairman W.F. Laird said the December price increase stems from a new rate request filed last spring by the company's supplier with the Federal Power Commission.

Laird said the supplier asked for a return on investment of about 15 per cent.

The power commission has yet to approve the request, but meanwhile the supplier can charge the higher rate, subject to refund if the power commission decides it is unjustified.

Under a price adjustment clause in its rate schedule, Columbia Gas can pass along to the consumer the increase in the wholesale price of gas.

The gas company estimates residential customers use about 15,000 cubic feet of gas a month. At the end of 1969 this amount cost $12.32, at the end of 1973 it was $15.44.

Laird said the cost of gas to homeowners will have soared to 55.1 per cent between January 1970 and October 1974, with the biggest jump occurring this year.

He also said that industries served by Columbia Gas will face a 20 per cent cutback in their gas supply by winter and the decrease will continue until Columbia begins importing liquified natural gas from Algeria in 1976.

Laird was among gas company officials meeting with Mayor Tom Moody, Utilities Director Robert Newlon and other cabinet members and city council members.

Brown Calls Off Probe Of Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown called off his investigation Wednesday into possible wrongdoing in connection with a 1973 chicken brunch that raised $158,000 for the campaign of former Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Brown said after receiving an amended report from the Rhodes for Governor Committee there was "no evidence of irregularities in receiving or reporting contributions which would require a further investigation by my office or a report to the attorney general."

Brown, a Republican seeking reelection, was accused by his Democratic opponent, Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton, of balking at the probe because he shares the state GOP ticket with the former governor.

In its amended report, the committee, headed by J. Gordon Peltier, reiterated its earlier claim that individual sales of tickets to more than 6,000 persons—at $25 each—accounted for the receipts at the October 1973 chicken brunch.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There can be adventure and humor even in the beginning reader books. A rhyming story will really encourage repetition of useful words, even if sometimes the child's audience longs for a change.

"Little Pig" and "Nat the Rat" are among the new titles in this category. When Little Pig's owner, a bright first grader, finds his little pet adores being a house guest he had to build a cozy hut outdoors to prevent trouble. "Nat" the rat steals the king's rings while cats nap which should delight sing-songing youngsters.

"Days for Seeing", another early book, follows two boys stranded in a dark building at night. "Lions" charts the adventures of many young students as they participate in all the happy activities of first graders.

Walt Disney's beloved characters give new life to old tales. It's really delightful to know that beginners will be able to read "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" on their own. The element of suspense as Mickey Mouse in the role of the great magician's helper, who almost loses his life will hold the reader's attention. Robin Hood and his band of rogues seize the gold of Prince John in "Robin Hood and the Great Coach Robbery."

"A Cow For Jaya" gives an unusual close up look at daily life in India. But there's danger, too, as Jaya learns unhappily that in a crowd it is possible to be mistaken for a thief.

To capture the imagination of many children just give them a story of a brave horse that is also a companion. In Walter Farley's first book for the very early grades, "Little Black, A Pony", a rescue from a dangerous hole in the ice is the highlight for the reader. If your third grader would like some excitement, take home "Black Kettle, King of the Wild Horses." When an admirer of horses plans to capture a roaming colt, a little Indian boy struggles to preserve the horse's freedom.

Magical charms, wishes that come true and a touch of magic are present in "Raggedy Ann and Andy's Sunny Stories." The two gentle dolls try to

Price Tag For Gilligan Plan Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate James Rhodes called on Democratic Gov. John Gilligan Wednesday to put a price tag on his proposed new education and health programs.

The former governor contended in a campaign statement that the proposals would require doubling the state income tax.

In announcing the proposals for higher education, primary and secondary education, health care for children, emergency medical services and health care for the elderly, Gilligan said they can be accomplished without new or increased taxes. Gilligan said the program could be financed within the present revenue structure and he would spell out the costs during the campaign.

"When Gilligan claims these new programs can be added in Ohio without new taxes, you know he is either hiding more state money or we have reached the silly season of the campaign," Rhodes said.

"Why do people of Ohio have to wait weeks before they find out what all these new programs are going to cost them?" he asked.

Rhodes and Gilligan's "no new taxes" claim was a "desperate effort to rid himself of the Tax-Happy Jack image."

make life happier by searching for folk's lost possessions and trying to win over cruel hearts with their kind ways. Another volume by Johnny Gruelle is "Raggedy Ann and Andy's Merry Adventures."

"Gregory's Stitches" is the hilarious account of a simple accident. One by one his friends build up the story, adding details until a heroic adventure has been reconstructed. Nothing soothes a hurt like imagining it was all in the line of bravery.

Good reading in the children's room is available for your family. Come in and enjoy it.

Don't forget the pre-school story hour begins Tuesday afternoon, October 1st at 1:30. See you then!

PICKAWAY PTO

The Pickaway Twp. Parent Teacher Organization met at the school recently. Mrs. Gilbert Wamsley was the devotional leader.

Officers for the 1974-75 school year are: Mrs. Mary Mears, president; James Eads, vice president; Mrs. Tacie Dumm, secretary; Larry and Pam Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Judy Pontius, news reporter.

It was decided at the meeting to: Continue to supply milk for needy students, give $5 to the grade with the most parents and teachers present, donate to cancer, TB, polio and other worthy charities, give $25 to each teacher, aid and support teachers with classroom parties.

The fourth grade won attendance with 18 parents present. A membership drive will not be held as it is considered that all parents, teachers are automatically members.

A calendar containing teacher names, PTO officers, committee chairmen, project dates and organization objectives will be presented at the Oct. 10 meeting.

Plans were made to hold the Halloween carnival Oct. 26 with Keith Reeves as chairman. School board member Roger Hobbie explained the financial need of the Logan Elm School District. Everyone was urged to attend the school board meetings held the first Monday of each month.

The project planning committee members are: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smallwood and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Judy.

Mrs. Mears submitted her resignation as she and her family are moving to Manila. The vice president, James Eads, will assume the office of president. He stated that in the coming year the parent teacher, school board and child relationship will be stressed with the objectives of combining the unity of all.

Patrolmen 'Dusted'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Highway Patrol Supt. Robert Chiaramonte says there have been sporadic incidents around the state in recent months of truck drivers aiming their big rigs just shy of officers working on the berm.

He said several officers have been forced to leap behind or around cars they had stopped or into the dirt as highballing trucks were steered two to four feet off the road in their directions.

Called "dusting" by the truckers, the practice is used by a "small minority of truckers who apparently feel they are paying the patrol back for enforcing the 55 miles per hour speed limit, Chiaramonte said.

Chiaramonte said 14 truckers have been arrested in recent months, mostly on reckless operation charges, but a few on felony assault counts. So far no patrolmen have been injured.

The superintendent said the patrol will continue prosecuting dusting truckers and warned that an indictment for aggravated murder will be sought if an officer is killed.

Brown To Receive Investigation Power

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown is expected to be given special powers to investigate possible election law violations within his own Democratic Party, the office of Gov. John J. Gilligan says.

Brown asked the governor in a letter Wednesday to authorize him to proceed with the probe with the same powers of those of a county prosecutor. He said his existing authority was "not entirely clear" under the statutes.

The investigation involves a February 1974 report of the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) in which the agency raised questions of Democratic irregularities in 1972.

Brown made a preliminary investigation, but then turned the matter in late July over to John Corrigan, prosecutor of Cuyahoga County in which the attorney general said violations may have occurred.

Corrigan, also a Democrat, sent the papers back to Brown last week, saying crowded court dockets had precluded him from moving ahead with the investigation.

Gilligan's office said Wednesday that the governor had not seen Brown's letter but was aware it was coming and indicated he will approve the request for broader powers.

The GAO raised questions about hiring state employees on the basis of their political affiliations and soliciting political contributions from them, seeking illegal contributions from labor unions and corporations, and the commingling of campaign and personal funds.

Brown indicated he will say what direction the investigation is taking prior to the Nov. 5 election.

Man Charged With Super X Break-In Appears In Court

A man charged with breaking and entering the Super X Drug store was among the eight defendants appearing before Judge William Ammer in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

James V. Dosztal appeared on charges of breaking and entering, theft and vandalism and asked the court to continue the cases on the advise of his attorney. Dosztal has cases pending against him in other counties. The court continued the hearing until a later time.

The court sentenced Francis Boyle to two concurrent terms of six months to five years in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. Boyle had previously entered guilty pleas to two charges of breaking and entering and a presentence report was given to the court by the adult parole authority.

A pre-sentence report was ordered on William R. Allison who appeared Wednesday to change his plea from not guilty to guilty on a charge of possession of an hallucinogen for sale.

Willette Sue Frey was found guilty of violation of probation during the session of court and was ordered to be committed to the Ohio State Hospital for 60 days for examination and a report.

The court entered pleas of not guilty to each of six counts against John Kirk and Gary Lynn Sampson entered pleas

Brennan Dedicates Mine School

CLARINGTON, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Secretary of Labor Peter Brennan helped dedicate the nation's first coal miners training school Wednesday and called the facility "a great step forward" in the areas of safety and instruction.

Brennan said the school also will benefit the coal industry in the long run with "better production if people can work under safe and happy conditions."

The coal industry shared financing of the $1.5 million facility with the federal, Ohio and West Virginia governments.

The school, to be operated by the Belmont County Joint Vocational High School, will offer a six-week course in mining techniques for area residents. Trainees will be recruited by the Ohio and West Virginia employment bureaus.

Among officials joining Brennan in the dedication were Ohio Gov. John Gilligan and U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio.

Gilligan said safety would be particularly emphasized in the training program to reduce the accident rate among new mine employees.

Hays said "coal is essential for our energy needs, but the production of energy is not worth the life of a single American."

Randy Gerber, also charged with the same six charges, is slated to appear for hearing on Oct. 21.

Bond was set in the amount of $15,000 each on two counts against Woodrow Collins. Collins was scheduled for hearing on April 10 on charges of grand theft and breaking and entering but failed to appear at that time. He was recently apprehended and brought before Judge Ammer Wednesday. He remains in Pickaway County Jail pending hearing on the two counts.

Zoning Unit Holds Public Hearings

Public hearings were conducted by the Circleville Planning and Zoning commission Wednesday on rezoning two parcels of real estate.

The first hearing concerned the rezoning of land at Morris Road and Atwater Ave. so apartments could be built. The land is presently zoned residential and has never been developed.

A representative from Cardinal Industries, the firm requesting the rezoning, was present to explain his company's plans for the area. They plan to construct approximately 100 efficiency, 1- and 2-bedroom apartments in a 2-phased operation. A number of objections to the rezoning were lodged by persons present.

The second hearing concerned the rezoning of Bowers-Goodchild property in the Walnut Creek Pike-Dunkle Road Area from R-2 to R-3. Both designations are for residential housing but the R-3 is for a smaller lot. The reason for the request was presented by a representative of Bowers-Goodchild. No objections were offered to the rezoning. A preliminary subdivision plat of the area was also considered by the planning and zoning commission at the hearing.

Planning and Zoning Commission will make a recommendation to Circleville City Council as a result of information gained at the hearings. Council is the city's legislative body and the only local government body that can amend the zoning ordinance to rezone a specific area.

In addition to the public hearings held by the planning and zoning commission, council must also conduct public hearings before action can be taken.

Columbus Man At Fault In Accident

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon cited Paul D. Harbour, 58, Columbus, for reckless operation, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 5:45 p.m. Wednesday.

Charles E. Spillman, 41, Route 1, Orient, was traveling west on Route 316 signaled to pass Harbour.

As Spillman was passing the Harbour vehicle, Harbour went left of center forcing the other driver off the road.

Both autos went off the left berm striking a utility pole.

Train Seeks Pollution Flexibility

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The head of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said he wants more flexibility to enforce pollution standards but cautioned this does not mean any slackening in efforts to improve the environment.

Russell E. Train told a news conference here Wednesday he had asked Congress for "the ability to extend compliance dates so we can grant extensions for meeting the Clean Air Act in good faith efforts."

"I probably will ask for the same in water."

Train said President Ford, while his voting record as a congressman was "conservative on environmental" issues, has been receptive to EPA efforts.

"But being President is different from being a Congressman representing a specific group of people," Train said, adding that Mr. Ford "is desirous of seeing me on a regular basis."

Train said "it is important to understand we are making progress in the environment" contrasting with other domestic problems.

Earlier, at a Greater Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Train urged the increased use of coal to combat fuel shortages, particularly in utilities.

Train said, however, that EPA will insist on anti-pollution programs like scrubbers on smoke stacks.

The EPA director called for flexibility in environmental compliance dates which now may be too demanding.

"The day is gone when we can accept a goal just because it has a tag which says 'environmental' on it," Train said.

He also inspected the EPA's $20 million National Environmental Research Center Building under construction here.

Donations Save College From Having To Close

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill. (AP) — Shimer College announced last year that a decrease in enrollment was forcing it to close the books on 120 years' tradition. It had lost 30 students.

But a clamor from students, faculty and alumni and $300,000 in donations forced trustees to take another look. So, a new academic year has started for the tiny liberal arts school known for its emphasis on classic literature and innovative teaching programs.

"We're so small that we didn't need millions to save it," said Ralph Hough, executive assistant to Shimer President Esther G. Weinstein.

"Now our biggest problem is convincing people that we're not dead. There was a lot of publicity when we decided to close, but no one's said anything about our staying open."

The school, which opened in September 1853, was slated to close Dec. 31, 1973.

Students, parents and alumni donated the money; administrators pared budgets and the registrar launched a direct-mail recruitment campaign.

"We had two $25,000 donations, but most of the money came in small gifts — $5, $10, a few $100 donations," said Hough.

Fall enrollment climbed back to about 200, and the doors to the 16 aging buildings on the 40-acre campus stayed open.

"For a school of 1,000 students, losing 30 isn't a big thing," Hough said. "But here it was a disaster."

Officials hope the recruitment program will soon boost enrollment to about 400.

The school boasts a one-to-nine faculty-student ratio, and offers little in the way of vocational majors, popular at larger schools.

Fire Out When Firemen Arrive

Introducing Starfire—the little Olds you didn't expect. It's a sporty little four-seater that's smaller than a compact... easy on gas... but a bonafide Supercoupe in looks, features and spirit on the road!

IT'S A GOOD FEELING TO HAVE AN OLDS AROUND YOU

We raised the gas mileage in every 1975 Olds model.

Every '75 Olds has a new Maximum Mileage System that helps make it a better car in several ways:

Our best mileage in years. Smooth-running engines. Fewer tune-ups and less routine maintenance.

And—better exhaust emission control.

The System represents the most advanced engineering and technology we can build into a '75 Olds. It includes a new catalytic converter (see below)—and a lot more.

There's a new high-energy ignition, for a hotter spark and improved ignition performance.

Also, Olds engineers adjusted shift points in transmissions. Installed low-ratio economy axles. And made GM-spec steel-belted radial tires standard.

As you can see, we've done a lot to improve the gas mileage capability of every 1975 Oldsmobile.

New Catalytic Converter—designed for long life.

This "pod" full of platinum-palladium coated beads provides a new way to reduce most emissions—after combustion, in the exhaust. It does a more effective job—and it eliminates some of the gas-robbing, combustion-stage controls of the past. Best of all, it allowed Olds engineers to re-tune the engines to run smoother and give better MPG than last year.

Tigers Set For SCOL Opener

It'll be more than the battle of the Tigers when Circleville invades Greenfield Friday night. The game will be the South Central Ohio League opener for both schools and could well decide the league championship as both teams boast powerful squads.

All the SCOL teams have 2-1 marks after the three, opening non-league tilts. But Circleville and Greenfield have emerged at the top of the statistical battle with pre-season favorite Miami Trace.

The Tigers of Greenfield shutout Country Day 26-0 and Shawnee 6-0 on successive Fridays before bowing to Chillicothe 13-12 last week.

They lead the SCOL schools in scoring defense and defense against the rush, thanks to the wins, and have out-gained Circleville by four yards on the ground for second place behind Miami Trace.

Greenfield has allowed its three opponents only 217 yards rushing in three games, while churning up 669 yards. Circleville, with 665 yards rushing, has limited its opponents to 366. The Circleville passing attack has clicked for 102 yards as compared to only 58 for Greenfield.

But the big difference is in the attacks of the two offenses.

Greenfield is sparked by Gary Barr,

a senior tailback that goes 6-2, 190-pounds. Barr has nearly three-fourths of the Greenfield offensive yardage with 424 yards rushing in 105 carries.

Barr carried the ball 31 times against Shawnee to pick-up 76 yards in the opener. Against Country Day, he rambled 45 times for 246 yards as the offensive unit picked up 409 yards.

Greenfield could well have been 3-0 going into the contest, as they nearly had a come-from-behind win against Chillicothe last week.

The winning score came via the airways after Greenfield fumbled near midfield.

Chillicothe gained 138 yards rushing in the game, 96 in the first half. Greenfield rolled for 161 yards, but got 105 in the second half.

A big factor in the game was the inability of Tiger quarterback Kevin Kensinger to complete a pass. He threw five times.

By contrast, Circleville has four backs that are a threat to go with the ball.

Pat McNaughton has gained 201 yards, Rick Sampson has rushed for 161, Biff Bumgarner has carried for 148, and Alan Underwood has traveled 110 yards in two games.

McNaughton is 4th in the league in total yardage and 5th in yards per carry with a 5.43 average. Barr leads the league in rushing yardage, but is not in the top 10 in yards per carry average.

Circleville also has the edge in passing with Phil Roll or Perry Hoskins. Roll is 7 of 19 for 88 yards, while Hoskins has hit on 2 of 8 for 14 yards.

The Tiger defense is led by middle guard Tim McNaughton, who has made 22 tackles in three games. Sophomore end Mearle Logan is credited with 20 tackles, Pat McNaughton and Scott Bowman have 18 each, Tim Hartinger, Tom Strawser, and Bruce Brudzinski have 15 tackles each, Tom England has 13, Brent Mancini has 12, and Alan Underwood and Perry Hoskins have 10 each.

"At this stage, we're ready for the game," Coach Larry Cook said Wednesday, as all the Tigers are up for the tilt. A flu bug has been circulating around the high school, and has forced several gridders to miss practices. But all are expected to be ready Friday.

CHS practices have been "excellent" in preparation for Greenfield. The Tuesday session was even cut short when the gridders accomplished their purpose ahead of time. Game films of last Friday's Athens contest pleased the coaching staff as the Tiger gridders stuck with their game plan for the win.

"We're not a spectacular team," Coach Cook said. "We try to control the tempo of the game and wear down the opposition."

The ball control offense really paid off when Pat McNaughton, given instructions to kill the clock, scampered for his long touchdown in the last minutes of the contest.

Circleville was complemented by the game officials at Athens, according to Coach Cook, for their poise after being hit with several tough penalties. The officials said the gridders never gave up or complained of the calls, but stuck to the game.

Athens High School treated the gridders in fine fashion. After the game, the Tigers were permitted to swim in the high school pool. And then they were treated to hot dogs and soft drinks by the AHS Booster Club.

Tigers of the week on offense were the McNaughton brothers. Pat earned the award as the top back, while Tim won for his line play. Tim has been a Tiger of the Week every week, the first two on defense.

Defensive lineman was Tom Strawser, while the back was Bruce Brudzinski.

The coaching staff awarded 25 black helmet stars, 15 to the offensive unit.

Starting lineup will remain about the same for Greenfield. The offensive right tackle spot will be manned by Tom England or Art Davis.

CIRCLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL TIGER FOOTBALL TEAM

Grid Forecaster Likes Texas

NEW YORK (AP) — Any resemblance between this week's Top Ten and last week's is purely coincidental. So is any resemblance between this week's forecasting average and last week's.

The rash of upsets that invaded the Top Ten also played havoc with the prognosticating last week.

Secure in the knowledge that it can hardly get any worse, here goes:

Texas 28, Texas Tech 21: Texas was the only team to beat Tech last year and this one will be for blood.

Arizona State 24, Missouri 21: Mizzou's Al Onofrio played at Arizona State and used to be an assistant coach there and he's still helping the Sun Devils ... to a better season.

Southern California 31, Pitt 21: 31-21 A.D. That's Anthony Davis against Anthony Dorsett. The Pitt Panther will have come all the way back if it wins this one.

Texas A&M 28, Washington 7: Would you believe Washington is the only unbeaten-untied team in the Pac-8? Not for long.

Auburn 14, Tennessee 13: Despite last year's 21-0 whipping of Auburn, Tennessee usually has trouble with teams from Alabama.

Ohio State 49, Southern Methodist 14: Ohio State has the horses ... and a couple of Griffins.

Notre Dame 35, Purdue 10: Irish want that No. 1 spot.

Oklahoma 35, Utah State 10: So do the Sooners.

Alabama 35, Vanderbilt 10: So does the Crimson Tide.

Michigan 28, Navy 7: Last week, Navy beat Penn State for the first time since 1967. That was also the last year Navy beat Michigan. Don't bet on lightning striking twice, even though Michigan struggled to win 14-0 last year.

Nebraska 44, Northwestern 0: Cornhuskers make the Wildcats pay for last week's loss to Wisconsin.

Colorado 21, Wisconsin 14: Upset Special of the Week. Buffs make their home debut a win for new coach Bill Mallory.

Baylor 21, Oklahoma State 14: Second Upset Special. Arkansas upset Southern Cal, Oklahoma State upset Arkansas. Get it?

Illinois 27, Washington State 14: Illini look like the real thing this year.

Temple 21, Boston College 17: Third Upset Special. Temple has memories of last year's 45-0 setback, the only game the Owls lost.

Princeton 20, Rutgers 10: Another episode between college football's original rivals.

Florida 21, Mississippi State 14: State's bubble bursts.

Maryland 24, North Carolina 14: Terps are 0-2 but this is their Atlantic Coast Conference opener ... and they're the preseason favorites.

Tulane 27, West Virginia 20: The Green Wave is anything but green.

UCLA 30, Michigan State 21: UCLA's

winless and State's unbeaten ... but looking ahead to Notre Dame and Michigan.

PPG Wins Industrial Championship

In the final game of the Pickaway County Industrial Slo-Pitch League championship series, PPG downed Owens-Illinois 9-8.

The third game was needed after the teams split games Tuesday night.

Lloyd Crosby cracked a double to spark the come-from-behind win, and Mike Gray added the finishing touch by slamming two homers over the left field fence.

Winning pitcher was John Sharp, while Wayne Cooper took the loss.

Jake Bailey cracked a homerun for the losers while John Cooper, Fletcher, and Barker added a double each.

PP&K Clinic Set Saturday

Youngsters who have registered for the Punt, Pass, and Kick program at Jim Houseman Ford can get a head start on improving their skills at a special PP&K training clinic to be held Saturday, Sept. 28, at the Circleville Junior High School field.

The clinic will begin at 11 a.m. and last about three hours.

Its purpose, according to Randy Weller, spokesman of the Ford dealer, is to familiarize entrants with competition procedure and to provide coaching in punting, passing, and place kicking.

Larry Cook, head coach at Circleville High School, is clinic director for the special session. Throughout his 11 years of experience in athletics, Coach Cook has made football his specialty and has devoted a great deal of time working with youngsters.

He has been an assistant coach for four years and head coach for seven, including a three-year tenure at Circleville High School. Cook is also assistant track coach at Circleville.

In addition to Coach Cook, Jim Houseman Ford is enlisting a number of assistants to provide extra, personal supervision as each youngster practices his or her skills.

Registration at Jim Houseman Ford is open to all youngsters between the ages of 8 and 13, accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no entry fee. Purchase is not necessary. Registration closes October 4.

Each entrant will receive a free PP&K Tips Book from his sponsoring Ford Dealer. This book contains all rules of competition, conditioning exercises as well as valuable punting, passing and place-kicking tips from outstanding pros.

Local competition will be held on October 5. Participation in PP&K requires no special equipment and does not impair a youngster's amateur standing.

A youngster's chances of winning in every level which he achieves is increased by the fact he or she competes only against others in the same age group.

The Circleville Herald, Thursday September 26, 1974 13

Cleveland Indians Top Brewers, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ken Aspromonte's memory served him well Wednesday night.

The Cleveland Indians were losing 3-1 in the fourth inning of their American League baseball game with the Milwaukee Brewers and with the bases loaded Aspromonte called Jack Brohamer off the bench to pinch hit and the injured second baseman blasted a bases cleaning double, giving the Indians a 4-3 margin they never lost.

"I remembered the way that he's been hitting (Jim) Slaton all season," Aspromonte said. "Jack is a fast ball hitter and that's what Slaton throws. Jack did the job and the move paid off."

Brohamer has been trying to get over a pulled hamstring muscle, and he limped into second base on the hit. He was removed from the game immediately after the game winning smash.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when singles by Oscar Gamble, Charlie Spikes and Tom McCraw backed each other up for a run, off loser Slaton, 13-15.

The Brewers scored three unearned runs in the second inning with the assistance of two fielding errors by shortstop Luis Alvarado.

Dave May opened the inning by reaching base when Alvarado dropped his ground ball. May moved to third on Mike Hegan's single and winner Jim Perry, 16-12, walked Sixto Lezcano to load the bases.

Alvarado then dropped the throw at second allowing May to score. Hegan scored on a fielder's choice and Lezcano crossed the plate on Pedro Garcia's single.

In the fourth inning Charlie Spikes started the inning with a single. McCraw collected his second single of the night and with one out Buddy Bell walked to load the bases.

With two outs Brohamer came to the plate, batting for Alvarado and put the game away.

The Indians made it 5-3 in the sixth when Dave Duncan scored on Duane Kuiper's single and added three unearned security runs in the eighth.

Bell singled, moved to second on a fielder's choice and with two outs Tommy Smith reached base on Pedro Garcia's error. Kuiper doubled scoring Bell and pinch hitter Rico Carty slapped a single to center scoring Smith and Kuiper for the final tally of 8-3.

The victory put the Indians back in fourth place one half game on top of the Brewers and gave reliever Tom Buskey his 18th save.

Hopeful Reds Top Astros, 4-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Expect a miracle," urged the tattered clipping on the office bulletin board of Cincinnati Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

But the Reds are running out of time and miracles.

Wednesday night's 4-1 victory over the Houston Astros renewed faint hopes.

The message is clear: win the remaining six games of the season and hope for an eleventh hour plunge by the Los Angeles Dodgers who lead by four games. The Dodgers lost to Atlanta 5-2 to keep the magic number for clinching the pennant at three.

The Reds kept their fading chances aglow behind a strong pitching performance by Clay Kirby and the torrid bat of young Ken Griffey.

Kirby blanked the Astros for seven innings before weakening in the eighth. The Reds staked him to a 3-0 lead after two innings, enabling the righthander to win his 11th game against nine losses. It was only his fifth triumph in 15 career decisions against the Astros.

It maintained the Reds mastery over Houston. Cincinnati has won 13 of the 17 meetings.

Jack Billingham, 19-10, attempts to become the National League's first 20 game winner of the season when he squares off against J.R. Richard, 2-1, tonight.

Griffey, the streak-hitting speedster who was a crucial contributor in Cincinnati's pennant push last fall, rapped out two hits, including a triple.

Shipped to the minors when his average dipped below .200 last spring, Griffey has returned with a vengeance. Since he's been elevated in July he's hitting .320.

He's making a bid for an outfield job next season and plans to play winter ball if needed to sharpen his skills.

"When I went down I didn't think I'd get another chance this year," said Griffey. "I was a little timid up here this spring. I started off bad and it was getting to me. I've seen enough of that bench. I've got to find out what I can do."

He has 11 hits in his last six starts. Barring winter trades, he and George

Foster appear as prime prospects for right field.

Larry Dierker, 10-10, took the loss.

Pete Rose opened the game with his career-high 43rd double of the year and scored on Tony Perez' single. The Reds added two more in the second on back-to-back singles by Cesar Geronimo and Dave Concepcion and Griffey's runscoring single.

Griffey tripled in the fourth and scored on a wild pitch by Dierker.

"People say a certain game makes you or breaks you," said Red Schoendienst, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, as he savored his team's nervewrenching 13-12 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "If there ever was a game to do it, this was it."

Rookie Jim Dwyer, a seldom used St. Louis reserve, knocked in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 11th inning Wednesday night.

The Cardinals recovered from a 5-0 first-inning deficit, then bounced back after the Pirates had scored three times in the top of the 11th and had taken a 12-9 lead.

The Cards' victory lifted them into first place, one-half game ahead of the Pirates. Their edge is in the win column. They have won one more game than Pittsburgh. Both teams have lost the same number of games.

St. Louis has six games remaining—all on the road—three at Chicago and three at Montreal. Pittsburgh has seven games left—four at New York and three at home against Chicago.

Meanwhile, in the National League West, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers were beaten by the Atlanta Braves 5-2 and their lead over Cincinnati was reduced to four games. The Reds kept their dim pennant hopes alive with a 4-1 triumph over the Houston Astros. The Dodgers' pennant-clinching number is three. Both Los Angeles and Cincinnati have six games left.

In other National League action, the San Diego Padres edged the San Francisco Giants 3-2, the Philadelphia Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 6-2, 6-3, and the Montreal Expos beat the Chicago Cubs twice 7-1, 3-2.

Ted Sizemore began St. Louis' winning rally with a single in the bottom of the 11th against rookie Juan Jimenez, the Pirates' sixth pitcher, Reggie Smith walked and Ted Simmons doubled, driving in Sizemore and driving out Jimenez.

Then with another rookie, Jim Minshall, pitching, Joe Torre grounded to second baseman Rennie Stennett, who had not made an error in 59 previous games but whose string was broken when he dropped a fly ball in the fifth inning. Stennett then made his second error of the game, throwing wildly to first, as Smith and Simmons raced home, tying the score 12-12.

After Ken Reitz struck out, Bake McBride bunted safely, and Dwyer followed with his game-winning sacrifice fly, scoring pinch runner Larry Herndon.

Memphis Southmen Stop Shreveport

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Shreveport Steamer sailed into the World Football League Wednesday night ... and sank.

There were plenty of hands on deck as the former Houston Texans played their first game in their new home. And the 21,357 fans who braved chilly, rainy weather had something to cheer about when Charlie Durkee gave them a 3-0 lead over Memphis with a 48-yard firstquarter field goal.

But from then on, it was all Memphis as the Southmen rolled to a 17-3 victory.

In other WFL action, Portland upset Birmingham 26-21, Southern California stamped past Jacksonville 57-7 and Philadelphia beat Hawaii 21-16.

Rookie quarterback Danny White tossed a 19-yard touchdown pass to Roger Wallace in the second period, Bob Etter kicked a 41-yard field goal in the third and Willie Spencer bulled over from two yards out in the fourth in Memphis' triumph.

It lifted the Southmen, 11-2, into a first-place tie with Birmingham in the Central Division. With the loss, the Steamer remained submerged in the West with a 3-9 record.

Storm 26, Americans 21

Pete Beathard tossed a 16-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bob Christiansen with 35 seconds left in Portland's stunner over the Americans.

The 16-year veteran quarterback completed 22 of 34 passes for 255 yards in directing the Storm to its fourth victory in the last five games.

Sun 57, Sharks 7

Tony Adams threw for two touchdowns and ran for another — and reserve passer Gary Valbuena also tossed two scoring strikes — in Southern California's romp over Jacksonville, the biggest victory margin of any WFL game this season.

In less than three periods of play, Adams completed 13 of 21 passes for 244 yards, including touchdowns of 16 yards to wide receiver Ike Harris and five yards to running back James McAlister in the opening half.

Bell 21, Hawaiians 16

Jerry Warren kicked two field goals, both set up by pass interceptions, as Philadelphia came back from an 8-7 deficit. Ron Mabra intercepted two passes, his second setting up a fourth-quarter field goal from 33 yards out. Safety Don Vallery intercepted another pass, setting up a third-quarter 23-yard Warren boot.

Pro Picker Sees Rams Victory

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

The moment of truth arrives this weekend in the National Football League for the upstart New England Patriots.

The Patriots — one of the five unbeaten and untied teams after only two weekends of the 1974 season — will find out Sunday that although this may be the Year of the Tiger for the Chinese, it is the Year of the Ram in the NFL.

To set the record straight, the old Pro Pigsaw Picker was NOT 8-5 the first week. Not only did he not pick well, he did not count his losses correctly. It should have been 7-6. This means, that with last weekend's dismal 7-5-1 showing, the season mark is now 14-11-1 for .560. 'Nuff said.

Los Angeles (2-0) at New England (2-0): The Ram defenders dumped New Orleans' Archie Manning five times last week. They may not get to the Patriots' Jim Plunkett quite so often, but they will ... RAMS 27, PATRIOTS 18.

Cleveland (1-1) at St. Louis (2-0): And Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich says that St. Louis "seems to have put it all together." So why argue ...

Blackwood To Change Tackling

CINCINNATI (AP)—Lyle Blackwood says something's got to give. He hopes it's not his head.

"From now on I'm changing my style," said the Cincinnati Bengals defensive back, who says he's one of the few to tackle head-first rather than using a shoulder.

"Not no more. I don't want my head falling off," said the 23-year-old Blackwood, one of the few new names in the veteran Cincinnati lineup.

But a series of injuries are jeopardizing the job he won this summer when he dislodged Neal Craig.

"I've got to heal up and cut down on my mistakes or Bernard Jackson will be playing in my place," he said as he gingerly put on his shirt.

The Texas Christian University graduate was hospitalized Sunday night after being knocked unconscious against the San Diego Chargers.

X-rays proved negative, but his availability this week remains in doubt. He is among the Bengals' mounting injured list.

Cincinnati travels to San Francisco Sunday.

Blackwood's latest nagging ailment is a painful stiff back.

A neck injury that caused loss of feeling in his shoulder has reduced his effectiveness in the last three games.

"It's disappointing because I had a good exhibition season. I felt I deserved the job. Now all this. I'm just not getting things done," said Blackwood, one of the surprises of summer camp.

CARDINALS 21, BROWNS 18.

Chicago (1-1) at Minnesota (2-0): The Vikings are one of the few teams that haven't gone sour for oddsmakers and Pro Pigsaw Pickers yet this season ... VIKINGS 24, BEARS 10.

Oakland (1-1) at Pittsburgh (1-0-1): The oddsmakers like the Steelers by 10 points. So do we, but not that much ... STEELERS 24, RAIDERS 21.

Cincinnati (1-1) at San Francisco (2-0): These two teams have never clashed before, not even in exhibition games. When the first meeting is over, San Francisco will wish that Pete Rozelle had waited longer before making the introduction ... BENGALS 21, 49ERS 17.

Miami (1-1) at San Diego (11): The Dolphins are going to be like Big Bad Leroy Brown until they forget what happened on the opening weekend of the season ... DOLPHINS 31, CHARGERS 10.

New York Jets (1-1) at Buffalo (1-1): Even if O.J. still isn't at full speed, the Bills should handle Broadway Joe and Co. handily ... BILLS 24, JETS 14.

Kansas City (1-1) at Houston (1-1): Let's call for an upset of minor proportions ... OILERS 21, CHIEFS 17.

New York Giants (0-2) at Dallas (1-1): Dallas is home on the range this week, and discouraging words aren't said there. So ... COWBOYS 27, GIANTS 13.

Baltimore (0-2) at Philadelphia (1-1): The season isn't yet wacky enough for the Colts to stage an upset ... EAGLES 17, COLTS 7.

Detroit (0-2) at Green Bay (11): Detroit's new coach, Joe Forzano probably will still be looking for his first pro victory after meeting Green Bay ... PACKERS 20, LIONS 14.

Atlanta (0-2) at New Orleans (0-2): The Saints haven't forgotten that 62-7 pasting they got last year from the Falcons. So, in another mild upset ... SAINTS 14, FALCONS 10.

Denver (0-1-1) at Washington (1-1): George Allen and crew won't be caught napping in the Monday night game. So let's say ... REDSKINS 21, BRONCOS 17.

Browns Seek Good Wide Receiver

CLEVELAND (AP) — They're men who roam the outer reaches of offensive football patterns, weaving around defenders looking to catch the big bomb.

They wear the label of wide receiver and the Cleveland Browns are looking for someone with the necessary gazellelike movements.

Steve Holden, who was drafted No. 1 last year but didn't do too well, appeared to be finally making it this season when an injury in last week's 20-7 victory over Houston put him out of action for at least two weeks.

Last Sunday Holden caught five passes for 83 yards. This Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals he'll be watching Jubilee Dunbar filling in for him.

Dunbar was acquired in a trade with the New Orleans Saints prior to this season and is in his third pro season. "Dunbar has come along much better the last two weeks," Skorich said. "He is doing a much better job running patterns."

Dunbar takes over the left wide receiver spot while Gloster Richardson moves over to the right, where Holden played.

Dunbar was the San Francisco 49ers choice in the third-round of the 1972 draft. He spent his first season on the 49ers taxi squad. He was traded to the Saints prior to 1973 and made an immediate impression.

Set Playoff In Ohio Open

HUESTON WOODS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Bailey of Columbus meets Boon Good, Alliance, today in a playoff of the southnorth section winners for the 40th Ohio Open Golf Tournament at Hueston Woods.

"It's a shame the two sections couldn't resolve their differences," said Bailey, a 29-year-old assistant pro from the Scioto Country Club.

He won the southern sectional here Wednesday with a 72-hole stroke total of 284.

"It was, I understand, the southern section's turn to host the entire tournament."

Good, 26, from Sleepy Hollow Country Club, winner of the north, arrived Wednesday night too late to play a complete practice round at the Hueston Woods State Park course.

"It's the first time I've seen the place," said Good. "I didn't get to play the eighth and ninth—holes—because they turned the sprinklers on, but it looks like a good golf course."

Bailey turned in a final 36-hole total of 139, five under par, to beat out defending champion Dick Plummer, Cincinnati, 292.

Other top finishers in the southern sectional were Geoff Hensley, Kings Island, 294; Walker Inman, Kings Island, 295; Joe Cardenas, Cincinnati, 296; Tom Elfers, Morrow; Bob Harrison, Cincinnati and Dave Zbell, an amateur playing from Hueston Woods, all tied at 197.

The heavyweight champion, whose freak sparring-session eye cut postponed the $30-million title fight — originally set for Sept. 25 — displayed Wednesday what appeared to be a healing injury in one of two sessions with newsmen.

Girl Helped In Kidnap Capture

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—In an ironic twist to the case, it was learned Wednesday that the daughter of an FBI supervisor helped the accused kidnaper of 4-year-old Allison Mechem surrender to authorities.

Meanwhile, police reported they were searching for two more suspects in the kidnaping. And the man in custody, Frank Joseph Wiechman, 26, of Cincinnati, was scheduled for court arraignment on kidnap charges this morning.

Police declined to comment on a Cincinnati Enquirer report that Wiechman was at work at a downtown Cincinnati automobile agency at the time of the kidnaping.

The blonde, blue-eyed Allison, daughter of broadcast executive Charles S. Mechem Jr., returned to normal living Wednesday as her parents sent her back to nursery school.

The child was found crying alone in a motel room Tuesday.

After learning the girl had been recovered, Wiechman, paroled from Florida for armed robbery convictions, sat in a chili parlor near his home with friends, discussing whether to surrender.

It was a young waitress, Maria Hogan, daughter of J. Gerald Hogan, assistant to the special agent in charge of the Cincinnati office of the FBI, who arranged the surrender.

She said Wiechman was a regular customer at the chili parlor and she served him chili or double-decker sandwiches nightly.

While her father helped run the massive manhunt and kidnap recovery for 24 hours, Maria did not know

Wiechman was wanted.

The FBI and police had traced Wiechman through the car used in the Monday afternoon kidnap through its license tag. It belonged to the man Wiechman had purchased it from, police revealed.

The car was abandoned with a ransom note and some of the child's belongings in the parking lot of a carry-out store.

"I talked to him some when he came in every night," said Miss Hogan. "I wasn't friendly with him, but he was well-mannered."

Wiechman had just finished eating Wednesday night when a friend came in to say the girl had been found and that he had seen Wiechman's picture on television as the wanted man.

Wiechman first tried to telephone his probation officer "but he couldn't get him for some reason," Miss Hogan said.

Then, another man at the counter, "Doug, I don't know his last name, he comes in every night too — said why don't you ask her to call her father to help. He's with the FBI."

Miss Hogan, who was washing dishes, looked up and was "stunned."

"Then he—Wiechman—said, 'yes, call your father'," she said.

"I knew the number. When I got my father on the phone I explained and then gave him (Wiechman) the telephone."

With that, Miss Hogan made herself "scarce" until after the police and FBI agents converged on the shopping center restaurant. There was no struggle.

Police confirmed Wednesday that Mechem, chairman of the board of

Lexington Police Chief Wounded

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — William Rein, police chief in nearby Lexington, was in satisfactory condition at Mansfield General Hospital today after being wounded by a gunman when he interrupted a drug store holdup.

Hospital spokesmen said Rein was wounded in the lower abdomen and was being kept in an intensive care unit. They said he would have to undergo surgery for removal of the bullet.

Meanwhile, authorities continued to search for two of the three men who were robbing the Lexington Pharmacy in the small town southwest of here Wednesday when Rein entered the store and was shot.

The third man was apprehended in the Mansfield suburb of Ontario after he fled the holdup scene in Rein's marked car. Police withheld his identity.

The other two escaped in a late model silver compact car, and the Richland County Sheriff's office said roadblocks set up in the area failed to turn up the pair.

Officers said there were no customers in the store when the gunmen entered and forced an employee to turn over drugs and an undetermined amount of money.

Rein apparently happened upon the scene. He was felled as he walked through the door, according to police.

A cash register alarm was activated at the police station and other officers arrived at the store after the robbers had fled.

Reformatory Inmate Burned In Incident

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A Mansfield Reformatory inmate was burned over 35 per cent of his body Wednesday when someone threw lighter fluid on his body and ignited it, officials said.

Jerry Martin, 20, of Jefferson County, who was serving a 1-15 year term for a burglary conviction, was taken to a Columbus hospital, where he was reported in critical condition.

The Ohio Highway Patrol was investigating the incident.

Fifi Gone, Honduras Still Suffers

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — No one in Honduras paid much attention early last week as Hurricane Fifi crept through the Caribbean sea.

It was just another storm to the 2.6 million people in this triangle-shaped Central American country.

Fifi is gone. But Honduras, a nation reeking of poverty, is flat on its back with Fifi's name etched forever in the national memory, the worst disaster in Honduran history.

The government estimates that 7,500-8,000 died. No one will ever know for sure how many perished. The National Emergency Committee said another 100,000 are homeless.

No one knows how many people died of hunger after Fifi destroyed almost 50 per cent of the nation's food crops. The Hondurans were undernourished, hungry, in abject poverty, before the storm came. In their usual state of malnutrition they were not up to holding on for the three, four or five days it took for the floods to recede enough to get food and shelter to them.

With almost half this season's corn and bean crops gone, the nation faces starvation.

Poverty is common in Honduras; the average annual income is less than $260. Many peasants have almost no cash income; they live off their crops and by bartering. Beggars abound in the cities. Boys drop out of first grade to shine shoes to help buy food.

People were warned about Fifi. But few paid attention. Only 10 days before, Hurricane Carmen skirted the coast without serious damage. Even if the barefoot, poorly clad people wanted to leave they had nowhere to go and no way to get there.

Measured against other killer storms, Fifi was just a kitten. The storm had sustained winds of 125 miles an hour with gusts up to 140 m.p.h. Carmen's winds gusted up to 175 m.p.h. and there was no large loss of life.

Fifi did her damage with water. She dumped up to 24 inches of rain in 36 hours on northeastern Honduras.

As Fifi's eye trudged slowly offshore, tides 15 feet above normal rose in the mangrove swamps, blocking the flow of the rivers. The torrential rain suddenly turned tranquil mountain streams into raging torrents. The streams flowed into the Ulua, Chamelecon and Aguan rivers, and the rivers had nowhere to go except over their banks.

Damage throughout the country far surpassed the gross national product. Between 80 and 95 per cent of the banana crop was wiped out, with a loss of half a billion dollars.

People tried to help. But the aid pouring in from other countries in plane after plane ran into bottlenecks. Only 20 per cent of the railroad lines survived. There are few paved roads.

As the first week after the storm neared its end, reports came in of outbreaks of disease. Rotting bodies of the dead, animal and human, were taking their toll.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Review past successful procedures as guidelines for this day's action, but don't summarily reject new ideas and methods. You could couple past AND present experience to great advantage.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Keep emotions under stern control so as to insure better judgment in difficult situations. Further admonitions: Don't overtax yourself; don't overelaborate in handling details.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some challenges possible, but face them—unafraid. With the Geminian's ingenuity and foresightedness, you should solve all situations handily.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may not blaze any trails now, but that shouldn't stop you from being the dedicated individual you usually are. It will pay, too—with gains of enduring worth.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A fine outlook! Day will be good for making profitable deals and arrangements. Knuckle down to steady business, forge ahead with a carefully prepared program.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Certain limitations to your success can be overcome if you take time to redefine your aims and expand operations so as to make a wider use of your talents.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Reach as far, high and wide as your talents permit. Excellent influences stimulate all your skills and endeavors. Don't press too hard, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Take the strategic approach to all situations. And, in discussions, be careful not to be overly aggressive or too forceful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Take longer if necessary to go over details: Better be sure than sorry. The quantity of your endeavors will not count as much as their quality.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn influences generous. You can make this day stand out by adding a touch of originality to your work and through more exhaustive study of the fine points.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed, neither overanxious, nor careless. Avoid excesses and ex-

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A desire to reach beyond your limitations could unhinge nerves and disposition, cause disruption of a smooth schedule. Watch it!

YOU BORN TODAY, as so many other Librans, are extremely talented along artistic lines, and your creativity, coupled with an intensely idealistic and philosophical nature, often inspires you to create works of almost awesome beauty—especially in literature or music. Your gift for words is outstanding and evidences itself in highly articulate speech as well as in your writings. You are a brilliant conversationalist and should you take up a career at law, for instance, your eloquence and convincing arguments would probably soon propel you into statesmanship or diplomacy, where you would shine. Other fields in which you could excel: painting, medicine, banking and the stage. Traits to curb: Living in the past and brooding over fancied slights. Birthdate of: Charles H. Percy, U.S. Senator; St. Alfonso da Ligouri, scholar, theologian.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC News is awaiting the results of a year-long survey of what viewers might like to see if the network expands its weeknight television news show from a half-hour to 45 minutes or an hour.

But it doesn't mean ABC plans to break the half-hour news barrier soon.

The survey, says ABC News President Bill Sheehan, "is just an exercise because we really don't have any hope of expanding the 'ABC Evening News' right now. But we want to be ready in case the day comes."

He said the study, conducted by Frank N. Magid Associates, an Iowa-based news consulting and research firm, simply asks, "What are people looking for if the networks go to an hour or 45 minutes?"

He recalled that when an earlier survey was made of viewer preferences in half-hour network news shows, "what we found quite clearly was that people watching the early evening news broadcasts were looking for a pretty quick summary of what had happened that day."

"Now, what we're looking for is to find out if they just want more of that or whether there's an appetite for longer, analytical kinds of material or 'magazine' kinds of material."

The idea of a 45-minute or hour-long news show on week nights has been discussed at the three networks for several years. But it still remains only a dream, with nothing definite planned, the networks say.

Until 1963, they only broadcast 15-minute evening news programs. NBC went to a halfhour in September that year, followed by CBS in December. ABC says it adopted the 30-minute format in January 1967.

Right now, the official line at ABC, whose weeknight news show is carried by 197 stations, is that an hour-long version of it will regularly appear within the next five years. But it won't predict which year.

CBS, whose evening news is carried by 194 stations, and NBC, its nightly news carried by 209, also predict hour-long network evening news programs in the future, but they also won't predict approximately when.

Fiber Glass Is Big In Boats

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — If you want photographs of those quaint wooden fishing boats, take your pictures now because they are about to go the way of the old frigates.

Following the lead of recreational boat makers, commercial yards are switching to fiber glass reinforced plastic for the material's safety and durability advantages.

A manufacturing company here, the nation's largest producer of shrimp boats, has been phasing into fiber glass for four years.

School Historian Lives In Old Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In his mind, 70-year-old Myron T. Seifert lives in the day of the little red schoolhouse.

McGuffey readers, inkwells, coal-burning stoves and brass school bells—these relics of school history have occupied much of the waking hours of the Columbus man for more than half a century.

"Since I've been in high school I've collected just about anything and everything, but I deal largely with items and articles pertaining to local history," said Seifert, a retired high school journalism teacher.

The results of those decades of historical scrounging jam a Columbus warehouse, awaiting establishment of an educational museum. Columbus school officials indicate the museum may soon come into being.

Seifert estimated that his collection of school memorabilia includes about 12 million stories and newspaper articles on schools in the Columbus area.

"I file everything—good, bad and indifferent," said Seifert. "It's a lot of guesswork, but there's something happening every day that has relevancy to tomorrow and the past."

The Seifert storeroom is a huge

hodgepodge, including besides the famed McGuffey readers and a burned-out stove that once kept a one-room schoolhouse warm a welter of old-fashioned desks, diplomas, class pins, school bells, early toys and even copies of yearbooks and newspapers from many Ohio schools.

Seifert and his wife have researched and filed school artifacts dating back to 1797. Much of the material came from estates of old Ohio families. Some persons sought out Seifert to make certain treasured materials would be safeguarded for the future.

Although a formal educational museum still is a dream of the future, Seifert already has made available his material to the public. Almost daily teachers from city schools bring students to the storeroom to see his collection.

Some days, Seifert reports, he receives a dozen letters and four or five telephone calls from people around the nation seeking historical information.

And, the search for new material continues.

"Why stop now?" he asked. "After all I've been doing this most of my life."

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I work full time, but this fall during the congressional race I will be taking off some time from my job to serve as an election official helping to register new voters and assisting in election booths. I will receive a fee for these services. Is this kind of income taxable?

(A.) Yes, and you must include in your gross income all fees paid to you as an election official.

(Q.) I am a registered nurse and I plan to return to work this fall after a three-year break to be at home with my young daughter. In order to go back to work, I plan to enroll her in a day care center where she will take meals and play supervised learning games as well as receive care. Can I deduct the entire cost of the day care or must I exclude the expenses for food and education?

(A.) Expenses for nursery school or day care for pre-school dependent children may be deducted, subject to certain limitations, if paid to enable you to be gainfully employed. Benefits incident to the care, such as food and education, are not child care expenses. But, if the manner of providing care is such that your payment covers other benefits that are inseparably a part of the care, then the entire cost is deductible as a child care expense.

For example, if a nursery school charges a flat fee that includes lunch, recreational activities, and other benefits, the full amount paid would be deductible. However, benefits will not be considered and inseparable part of the care if the expense includes education in the first or higher grade level. Such expenses must be apportioned between the cost of care for the child and the cost of education. For further information on this subject including limitations on the amount of deductions for child care, consult IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." It's available free at many IRS offices.

(Q.) I am a college student majoring in education. My school has deferred my tuition payments until I graduate and begin teaching in the state. How does this affect my income tax?

(A.) Deferral of a student's tuition obligation to a college or university until the student's later working year is not income to the student and no tax is involved. However, if the debt is eventually forgiven, there is a tax on the amount of the loan in the year the loan is forgiven.

(Q.) I rent out a house that I own. Recently, the tenants requested me to patch some cracks in the cement patio and build a fence across the back of the property. Can I deduct the cost of these projects as rental expenses?

(A.) To be deductible, a repair to rental property you own must not appreciably add to the value, utility or useful life of the property. Incidental repairs which keep the property in efficient operating condition, such as mending leaks, or in your case, fixing the patio, are deductible. Building the fence would add to the value of the house and such an improvement would not be deductible. The cost of the fence, however, may be depreciated over its useful life. For more information on depreciation, see IRS Publication 534, "Tax Information on Depreciation," available free from most IRS offices.

Honey Production Down This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't look for the nation's bees to make up for any gaps in the nation's sweet tooth this year.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday honey production in the major producing states is expected to be down about 24 per cent from 1973. Officials said summer drought, which dried up nectar blossoms, is the main reason for decreased production in most Midwest states.

Although the department said the inventory is not strictly a national account, indications are the decline in 20 major honey states means a substantial drop in over-all output.

Ned W. Harden, Harden Chevrolet, Circleville, has been elected to a key office for his area in a nationwide organization of Chevrolet dealers.

Chosen as representative from his district to the Chevrolet Dealer Council, he will serve as spokesman for 11 Chevrolet dealers in the district at an October meeting of the organization to be held at the zone headquarters in Cincinnati.

The Chevrolet Dealer Council program was pioneered by Chevrolet in 1937. Operating at local and national levels, the organization helps Chevrolet's 6,000 dealers plan toward mutual progress in discussions among themselves and with Chevrolet executives. Among matters discussed are market conditions, business concepts and customer services.

The Chevrolet Dealer Council is organized at district, zone, regional and national levels to correspond with Chevrolet's field sales areas. Dealers in the 435 Chevrolet sales districts elect representatives annually to attend the zone meetings. In meetings at the 48 zone cities these representatives elect from their number regional council representatives. At the conclusion of meetings held in the nine regional headquarters cities, the regional representatives elect members to represent them on the Chevrolet National Dealer Council that meets in Detroit with company executives.

District, regional and national Dealer Council members are elected to a two-year term. Elections are held annually to provide for continuity in office with overlapping terms.

Judge Nixes KSU Motion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge has turned down a defense motion arguing that the rights of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were violated because it took the government more than four years to bring them to trial in connection with the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Judge Frank J. Battisti denied Wednesday the motion for dismissal of charges against the former guardsmen.

The eight were indicted by a federal grand jury last March, accused of violating the civil rights of students killed or wounded by national guard gunfire May 4, 1970. Four students were killed and nine wounded in the clash between guardsmen and antiwar demonstrators.

GTE Curtails Expansion Projects

Twelve current expansion projects totaling $641,700 have been deferred in the Circleville district in connection with the curtailment program announced July 24 by General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

The deferrals affect five of the district's eight exchanges, said William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager.

Plans are indefinite for completing these jobs, he said. Further cutbacks are contemplated on 1975 projects.

In its July 24 announcement the company said certain work would be postponed or cancelled. Reasons cited were spiraling inflation, rising interest rates and lag by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio on General's 1972 rate increase request.

He said many other planned projects are being completed. But a cutback had to be instituted. The company adopted the curtailment to avoid borrowing more money. Internally generated funds will be used for about 75 per cent of the expansion program. Such funds — earnings, depreciation reserves and deferred taxes — normally support about half of the company's expansion. The rest has to be borrowed.

The company, which has facilities in 79 counties, has deferred 232 projects statewide, he added. This amounts to about $10.5 million to be deducted from the original $64.5 million 1974 budget. Some layoffs also have occurred. A total of 219 contract workers and 60 regular employees have been furloughed to date. More layoffs are expected, he added.

Berger Directors OK Drain Plan Change

The Board of Directors of Berger Hospital approved the largest change order and authorized payment of the largest bill thus far incurred in the building of the new ancillary addition.

Jim McCowan, Leo Rovtar and W. E. Monks were present at the regular meeting of the board on Wednesday night with a revision of the original plans of the building project. The revision was concerned primarily with the drainage of the new area.

The group representing the Dan Carmichael Architectural firm presented several reasons for the change including the accessibility of the city sewer and the costs involved in following the original plans.

No city storm drainage is available to the area on the northeast side of the building and the only alternative the architectural firm had was to route the drainage system across the front of the hospital. Because of the problems and handicaps that would be caused if the line were placed across the parking lot, the architect, drew the plans to route the line across the front lawn.

Discussion from the board questioned the possibility of routing the lines in the obvious direction, between the hospital and the properties on Sharon Road. The representatives from the architect's office explained the space was limited in that area and existing utility lines there made that route nearly impossible.

The board agreed to accept the new plans as presented which would entail an additional $5,500 increase over the original bid. The board noted that this was the largest change order in the current construction. Up to this time, the changes have been minimal and were mostly involving changes in state regulations.

Two bills were also presented to the board for payment including $72,263.70 to Steward Construction Company and $11,700 to the Sauer Inc. The bill from the Sauer Company was for plumbing equipment on the site. Both bills were approved for payment and netted the largest single presentation of bills and also the largest single expenditure thus far incurred in the building project.

The finance report presented to the board showed a decline in occupancy and also a decline in revenue for the month of August. The month showed an occupancy of 59 per cent as opposed to 69 per cent during the same time last year. The occupancy running to date is 75 per cent which is below last year's figure through this time of 78 per cent.

Hospital administrator John Reid noted that there were only three more employees than one year ago. In conclusion of the finance report, it was brought out that 51 babies were born during the month, 74 operations performed, and 1,079 emergency room visits.

Reid also advised the board that the administrative staff was presently working on a financial sheet on the building project.

A resolution was passed to designate the earned interest income from funds presently on interest as part of the building fund.

The administrator's report continued with information on the hospital's liability insurance coverage. Reid said he had been informed he could obtain a $1,000 reduction in premiums and still have the same coverage with the same company. He also presented an alternate plan to the board which would allow the extra money which is already appropriated for insurance purposes to be used in an umbrella policy.

An umbrella policy would cost slightly less than the $1,000 and would provide a maximum coverage up to one million dollars. This type policy takes up where the present policy coverage is limited. The board authorized Reid to look further into the situation.

Reid advised the board $493 has come into the Mrs. Frank Bowling Memorial Fund.

Christmas gifts which are purchased annually by the board of directors for the hospital employees have been ordered.

It was also reported to the board that the hospital has a new employee, Mrs. Pamela Hatfield Smith. Mrs. Smith was hired as a surgical technician and has had experience with the open heart surgery team at the Brook Medical Center in Texas. Angie Kirchgesner will be moving to the emergency room department and Barbara Gerhardt, R. N. has been appointed to the position of medical supervisor.

A report to the board from Dr. Emily Lutz, president of the medical staff, presented applications for courtesy staff privileges. The board approved privileges to Dr. William Copeland, obstetrics and gynecologic surgery; Dr. George Smetters, pathology; Dr. Arthur A. Filiatraut, radiology. These doctors had already been approved for courtesy staff privileges by the medical staff.

The board acted on a bill of nearly $1,300 owed to the Circleville Herald. The bill had not been previously paid because it had been sent to the City Council members who thought it not their place to pay the bill and the Roose, Wade Company had also declined the invitation to pay it. Having routed the bill to all possible sources and still having it unpaid, the board voted on an amended motion to pay the amount due. Board member Bob Huffer amended the original motion to pay it by including a stipulation to ask the Circleville Herald for a contribution to the building fund.

Reid reported to the board on the recent industrial accident which occurred at the hospital. Ernie Pennington fell out of a tree while attempting to trim the trees. It was later discovered that the electric company will do the necessary trimming without charge.

A Cancer Care insurance plan was presented to the board for consideration in offering it to the employees as a payroll deduction. Board members voted to place the leaflet on the bulletin board for the employees inspection but not to offer it as a payroll deduction.

Ernst and Ernst, financial consultants of the hospital board, were appointed to perform the annual audit of the hospital's books and records.

The price list for items of equipment costing over $100 each were referred to the medical staff for approval and will be presented along with the staff's recommendations at the next meeting of the hospital board.

In conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Robert Liggett, new president of the general guilds gave a report. Mrs. Jenny Russell had recently resigned from the position of president due to health reasons. Mrs. Liggett advised the board the guilds are presently reorganizing for the fall. The Christmas bazaar is planned for Nov. 22.

Tax Bill In Trouble; Would Help Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — If this year's big tax bill survives heavy cross-fire in Congress, many average Americans will get a tax cut while oilmen will see an old tax-saving friend, the depletion allowance, slowly die.

But all sides in the tax bill battle agree that's an extremely big "if," because the legislation is in trouble. Friends are having a tough time finding and keeping a consensus, while some strange-bedfellow enemies may just gang up and kill it quickly.

As the bill presently stands after many months of voting by the House Ways and Means Committee, but with many controversial items subject to change before the panel's final decisions in the next few weeks, chief provisions would:

—Hike taxes for the oil industry, mainly by phasing out the percentage depletion allowance that has been a fixture in tax law since the 1920s and which saves petroleum producers $2 billion to $3 billion a year in federal taxes.

—Cut taxes for many individuals by increasing the maximum standard deduction from $2,000 to $2,500; by boosting the minimum standard deduction that benefits low-income persons from $1,300 to $1,400 for singles and $1,500 for couples; and by creating a new "simplification" deduction of up to $650 for people who itemize.

—Benefit some upper-bracket taxpayers through a change that would extend to some unearned income, such as dividends and rents, the maximum 50 per cent tax rate that now applies to earned income such as salaries. Some unearned income may now be taxed at up to 70 per cent.

—Curb tax shelters, especially in the real estate field where these are extensively used by investors.

—Create a new minimum tax on the rich, which would be an alternate tax to be paid only if the liability is larger than the wealthy person's regular taxes due.

—Ease taxes on capital gains, meaning profits from sales of assets such as securities or real estate held a certain length of time.

Over-all, staff experts said it will be next week before firm estimates on the revenue gains and losses for the Treasury are ready for presentation to the committee. But they guess there would be a net $400 million gain for the government when the bill's features take effect.

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is pushing to get a bill passed by the House before the planned mid-October recess for the November elections. But the committee is deeply split over the major features such as the proposed boost in oil industry taxes.

Still pending are moves to reconsider such things as the new minimum tax on the wealthy, and a suggestion that a way be provided so that no federal taxes would have to be paid by a head of a household earning up to $3,200, or by others on a scale ranging to a married couple with four children and annual earnings of $6,500.

Dangerous Drug Data Withheld?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading pharmaceutical firm is selling in almost every country except the United States a drug it has known for nearly 10 years causes ulcers in monkeys, a Senate committee has been told.

Subpoenaed testimony before a Senate health subcommittee also disclosed that Ciba-Geigy Corp. allegedly withheld adverse information about its "Slow-K" potassium supplement from the Food and Drug Administration until a former Ciba executive blew the whistle.

Slow-K is undergoing clinical trials in American patients now, pending FDA approval for marketing as a prescription drug in the United States.

The drug is designed to replace the potassium lost by patients taking diuretics for fluid loss. Some medical experts say orange juice and bananas achieve the same result.

Tulane University medical professor F. Gilbert McMahon, a Ciba vice president for three years, confirmed that it was he who tipped the FDA on May 26, 1972, of company studies showing that Slow-K caused gastric ulcers in monkeys.

Ciba had applied to the FDA on Aug. 27, 1971, for permission to conduct experimental studies with the drug prior to seeking marketing approval.

McMahon, who spent eight years with drug companies and 24 years in clinical pharmacology and human research, emphasized that he was appearing under subpoena and that he had no ax to grind with the FDA or the pharmaceutical industry.

The Ciba monkey studies had been performed by Dr. Albert Earl in early 1965. He left Ciba in 1969 after 21 years with the firm.

Introduced into the hearing record was a memo prepared for, but never signed by, Dr. J. Richard Crout, then director of the FDA's Office of Scientific Evaluation, recommending that legal action be considered against Ciba for not submitting the monkey studies.

FDA investigators sent to check out McMahon's tip were told by Ciba on Aug. 18, 1972, that the data had been overlooked, according to the memo prepared by Dr. E. DeVaughn Belton, then head of the FDA's team investigating cardiovascular drugs.

"Although we recognize that the firm eventually submitted the data, it is our opinion that the firm has violated the law by omission of 'material information....'" said the memo prepared by Belton.

Crout said on Wednesday he could not recall the memo or why he didn't send it to his predecessor at the Bureau of Drugs.

Nixon's Doctors Work On Blood Clot

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon rested quietly in a hospital today and the former president's doctor says he thinks the dime-sized blood clot in his right lung can be successfully treated.

A hospital spokesman revealed the clot had passed through Nixon's heart before lodging in the lung. If it had blocked a heart artery, it could have been fatal.

Nixon's physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, said on Wednesday that the clot was a "potentially dangerous situation but not critical at this time.... There is a very good chance of recovery, but it will take some time."

Nixon is expected to be hospitalized through next week, missing the Tuesday start of the Watergate cover-up trial in Washington for which he has been subpoenaed as a witness.

Lungren said Nixon took news of the gelatin-like clot "as he normally takes anything else — it's another problem." But the doctor added, "He has a hell of a will to live."

Such a clot — called an embolus — kills lung tissue around it. The size of the dead lung area in Nixon's case was not disclosed.

Several specialists not attending Nixon were asked their opinion on the severity of the clot.

"It's not life-threatening," Dr. Richard Lescoe, past president of the Los Angeles Lung Association, said of Nixon's clot.

A knowledgeable Washington, D.C., doctor warned, however, that "even though this clot doesn't seem to be severe, it doesn't mean it couldn't get worse. If a chunk of another clot broke off and got to the lungs... that might be it."

The clot is being treated with anticoagulants in hope of dissolving it and preventing new clots from forming.

The clot reached Nixon's lung after breaking off a larger clot in his leg, where it had been created by persistent phlebitis, an inflammation of the vein, Lungren said. He said the greatest danger is that another clot might break off and move to a lung.

The mortality rate from pulmonary embolism varies greatly, according to medical sources. Depending on the primary cause, it can be anywhere from 1 per cent to 80 per cent fatal, they said.

Lungren said stress and fatigue suffered by Nixon since he resigned the presidency "may be a factor" in Nixon's physical problems.

But he suggested other causes are possible — simple inactivity or hypercoagulability of the blood (a strong tendency to clot) or even malignancy, including leukemia. He said tests were being performed.

Mary Prentice, a hospital spokeswoman, said the clot was small enough to easily pass through one of the two main pulmonary arteries that connect the heart to the lungs. If it had been large enough and lodged in the artery, death could have occurred in a few minutes or a few hours.

Nixon has had trouble with his leg and phlebitis for many years, and the lung clot indicates the circulatory ailment will continue to plague him. "He's going to be bothered with this the rest of his life," one New York lung specialist said.

The 61-year-old Nixon has no chest pain from the clot, Lungren said. Nixon entered Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach on Monday for a stay then expected to last seven days.

Nixon's wife, Pat, has been visiting her husband daily, driving to the hospital from their seaside villa in San Clemente, 50 miles south of Long Beach, a hospital official said.

Telephone calls, letters and telegrams continued to pour into the hospital, most expressing encouragement.

But several callers made threats, such as "Kill Nixon," "Let him die" and "I'm going to get him," hospital officials said. One told police on Monday he had planted a bomb in the hospital.

Secret Service agents refused comment on the threats. Nixon is sealed off on the sixth floor of the hospital's west wing.

Nixon had been subpoenaed by defendant John D. Ehrlichman, his former domestic affairs adviser, and special prosecutor Leon Jaworski in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Jaworski has asked U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to send an independent medical team to determine whether Nixon can testify or give a deposition. Sirica has not yet ruled on the request.

The clot was discovered on Tuesday. Lungren said he did not know when the clot broke off.

President Ford "expressed pleasure that there was no imminent danger and that the former president is feeling reasonably well," said Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

Nessen said he knew of no plans for Ford to visit Nixon, although Ford will be in San Francisco on Wednesday for a speaking appearance.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Disappointment over the failure of a rally attempt Wednesday left the stock market weak and listless today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.70 to 640.25, and losers outpaced gainers by about 7 to 2 in light trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted considerable pessimism on Wall Street over the market's prospects in the wake of its failure to sustain a brief rally Wednesday that greeted a cut in the prime lending rate by a series of banks, including two of the largest in the country.

Pan American World Airways was the NYSE volume leader, down 1/4 at 24. A 103,000-share block traded at 2.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .65 at 65.27.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was off .52 to 35.09.

Vintage Enterprises was the Amex volume leader, down 1/2 at 2.

Community Fund Drive Detailed To Red Cross

Dr. James River, campaign chairman gave a detailed report of the Pickaway County Community Fund Drive at Wednesday's meeting of the American Red Cross Board of Directors.

He stated that every effort is being made by the volunteer captains to reach the goal of $93,000 which will finance ten agencies during 1975.

Plans for completing a detailed Disaster Plan for Pickaway County were outlined. John Leist, disaster chairman, will be organizing a plan which will include assistance from all other interested community agencies. Mrs. James Fosnaugh, local registered nurse attended a session on Disaster Nursing at the Columbus division and Mrs. Fred Tammany and Mrs. Roliff Wolford from the local Red Cross, along with Mrs. Ellis Norman from the Department of Public Welfare, attended a workshop on Disaster Welfare Inquiries recently.

Three additional training meetings regarding immediate assistance, shelter management, and survey are planned for later in the fall. Anyone who is interested in disaster planning is encouraged to attend these meetings. Hopefully, a workable disaster plan can be devised as a result of these training sessions.

The Blood Program committee announced that a very successful Blood Visit in Tuesday collected 177 units of blood. Due to this and 2 extra visits at Orient State Institute, the county is now well above the quota for the year to date. The Regional Blood Committee will meet at a German Village Sausage House on October 9. Mrs. Royce Woolever will represent Pickaway County on the Regional Committee during 1975. Belinda Seimer and Cindy Hamman, youth volunteers, who attended Leadership training center at Otterbein College gave informative reports regarding their experience and expressed the hope that they will be better equipped for leadership roles in their schools and communities as a result of the conference.

Lowell Ferguson, first aid chairman, reported that eight new Standard First Aid and Personal Safety instructors were recently trained and will be available to teach classes in the Community. Another class is planned to start in October.

Army Keeps Calley Jailed; Appeal Set

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — "I don't have a battalion to storm Ft. Leavenworth and take him out," one of William L. Calley Jr.'s attorneys said about the Army's efforts to stay a federal judge's order freeing Calley. "It's unbelievable to me that the Army would just out and say they're not going to release the man," said J. Houston Gordon, the 28-year-old Tennessee lawyer who has been the driving force behind Calley's fight for freedom.

"The judge's order is to release the man forthwith, and I understood that meant immediately."

Calley, 31, remains in disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., today while the Army moves to appeal U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott's decision overturning Calley's murder conviction in the My Lai massacre of Vietnamese civilians.

The Army has said it also will recommend that the Justice Department, which acts for it in cases before federal civil courts, move for a stay of Elliott's order to release Calley.

The former Army lieutenant "will not be released from confinement pending a decision on these recommendations," the Army's announcement said.

Elliott ordered Calley released once before, on bond last February, but that order was revoked by a higher court when the Army filed an appeal.

Ask Delay In Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio attorney general's office has asked U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Duncan to withhold implementing a decision on abortion payments pending an appeal to a higher court.

Duncan ruled illegal last week a section of the new abortion law that would have prohibited state funds from being used for abortions for welfare recipients.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Thomas V. Martin, acting on behalf of Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, asked Duncan to delay the order.

If the auditor is required to make the payments, Martin said, it is unlikely the state can recover the funds in the event the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reverses Duncan's order.

Ohio Crop Losses Said $356 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Drought, heavy rains and an early killing frost have lopped an estimated $356 million off this year's anticipated farm income in Ohio from soybeans, corn and tomatoes.

That's the report from C. William Swank, executive vice president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Swank said Ohio farmers have lost about $100 million in soybeans, $250 million in corn and $6 million in tomatoes.

"I based those figures on the current market prices for the crops and the drop from spring estimates of the yield," he said.

He said soybeans, currently selling for $7.50 a bushel, are down 13 million from spring predictions, while corn, with a market price of $3.35 a bushel, is off 75 million bushels.

Tomato production, he said, is 100,000 tons less than expected. Tomatoes are currently bringing about $60 a ton.

"The only unfair part of those estimates is that had we come in with a full crop, prices might have been lower," Swank added.

Swank said the tomato crop was the hardest hit by the unseasonable cold weather that marked the first day of autumn Monday.

"Frost took just about all the remaining tomatoes, which were about a third of the total year's crop," he said. "But I would guess only about 5 to 10 per cent of the soybean crop and 5 per cent of the corn were affected by the cold."

After a long dry spell during the summer, followed by heavy rains, farmers had hoped for a late frost.

"Three or four more weeks of good weather would have helped things," said Swank.

He said he wouldn't call this year's weather especially unusual.

"Farmers have had bad seasons before," he said, "but there's been more public interest in the food situation this year because of inflation. We're going to see food prices jumping around considerably this winter."

Easter Seal Child Selected

WELLSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — A Brooke County girl, four-year-old Pamela Jo Baker, will be the 1975 Easter Seal Child, officials at the National Easter Seal Society in Chicago announced Wednesday.

The child, who has been afflicted with cerebral palsy since birth, will attend the National Easter Seal Convention in Texas in November.

"I think it's a great honor and I hope it will wake up West Virginia as to what Easter Seals really do for the handicapped child," said her mother, Mrs. Herbert Baker.

Action Plan Explained At Public Hearing

Officials from District Six of the Ohio Department of Transportation presented their Action Plan for Pickaway County during a public meeting held in the Common Pleas Courtroom Wednesday.

The purpose of the hearing was to find out what the local community felt were the primary transportation needs.

Wayne Kauble, design and planning engineer for District 6, and Bernard Hurst, director of District 6, both commented on the availability of highway financing, both for maintenance and new construction.

According to Hurst there will be $18 to $20 million less than anticipated available for the current calendar year. He blamed the reduction of highway money available directly on the energy crisis. In addition to the reduction of funds, costs have gone up substantially over the past year, making curtailment of the overall highway program necessary.

Hurst said the number one priority in the program is maintenance. The number two priority is given to construction of interstate highways where 90 per cent matching federal money is available.

Proposed state highway projects in Pickaway County include:

Three sections of Route 104 for replacing inadequate bridges and straightening curves; Route 22 by pass of Circleville, straightening of Route 56 in Salt Creek Twp., widening Route 674 from Route 752 to Marcy Road, replace bridge over Darby Creek on State Route 762.

None of the proposed projects have a time schedule established.

Local citizens and officials speaking at the meeting were:

Robert Liston and Dick T. Tootle, county commissioners; Ned Harden, chairman of the planning and zoning commission; John Evans, who spoke out against the proposed Route 22 bypass; Martha Poling, who sought more state funds for rural roads; and a senior citizen concerned about public transit system for the community.

A Page Of Opinion

Nostalgia Binge

Nostalgia has the nation in its grip, or so one might assume by viewing the contemporary scene. You pick up a newspaper, and what do you find? Probably a picture of a building which was torn down 50 years ago (but which, the implication is, should have been preserved for posterity). Women's publications are likely to have pictures showing how grandma cooked with primitive tools. Or a show of antique automobiles attracts thousands, and one of the old masterpieces changes ownership for $79,000. Is there an old steam locomotive which can get up a little pressure without blowing the train apart? That's the thing to ride behind, cinders and all. Hobbies which have nostalgic roots are constantly expanding as new categories are added.

One man (or woman) may copy funny inscriptions, complete with misspellings, from tombstones. A Texas man has the largest collection of wooden printers' type ever assembled.

The list is constantly being lengthened as new hobbies spring up.

Book A Grand Slam

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, — This celebration of the 30th anniversary of the massive jump into occupied Holland of about 35,000 Allied paratroops and glider-borne infantry is also a literary tea.

It coincides with the publication of Cornelius Ryan's newest and, to put it forlornly, probably last book. It is titled "A Bridge Too Far," published by Simon and Schuster, and will sell mountains of copies in hard and soft covers in more than a dozen languages.

There has never been anything like this in the annals of book promotion. Hemingway was never hailed in Spain after "For Whom the Bell Tolls," or in Cuba after "The Old Man and the Sea" as Connie has been embraced in Holland for his recognition of the valiant role the generally forgotten Dutch underground played in the liberation of their country. Thomas Mann missed kudos in post-war Germany. Solzhenitsyn will never have a ticker tape parade in Moscow. Quentin Reynolds and Ed Murrow were sometimes discreetly applauded when they entered the Savoy Grille in London during the early days of Britain's lone stand against Hitler.

But that was nothing compared to the reception Ryan, a foine broth of a Dublin boy, has received here this past week. The stores are stuffed with copies of his book. He has worn himself extra-ragged at receptions and press conferences and autograph sessions since his arrival. The schedule he has kept, with the help of his cane and his fabled overdose of guts, would have killed Brian Boru (and King Kong too).

Connie has been dying of bone cancer since about the time he was halfway done with his book. That was three years ago. He has difficulty making it from the time he gets up in the morning until dusk and his pills enable him to blotter a day of pain. It had nothing to do with the promotion of his finest book (finer than ever "The Longest Day" and "The Last Battle") when he hobbled across the public square in Eindhoven at a 30th anniversary of Dutch liberation the other night. But it was so gallant a gesture, since he should have been in bed, that I for one was moved to cheers. And tears.

It is the hope of Prince Bernhard, the savvyest consort left on a planet that is divesting itself of the luxury of royalty, that Ryan's book will stimulate interest in this landmark of World War II resistance, survival, and victory. Connie's book about the invasion of Normandy did just that among tourist-minded survivors and their families.

The prince's hopes are built on the quicksands of the current world recession, best illustrated by the giddy drop in American overseas tourism to Europe. The price of survival, shelter, food and drink remain relatively modest in Holland, compared to France and Britain and others. You can go to Yosemite a bit cheaper. But if you did, you'd miss a voyage on KLM's profit-making 747; Volendam's miniature of a way of life that was old before the Dutch established New York; a chance to behold acres and acres of Delft, far reaches of blindingly beautiful tulips, and blondes, windmills that actually work, more canals than even the great Venetian Marco Polo could have envisioned, and the tragic little place where Anne Frank tried to hide.

Try to make it sometime, if only for the thick pea soup with large slabs of sausage — on which Ryan and others survived one 12-hour day of exhausting hospitality.

Business World

By WILLIAM R. LOG
Associated Press Writer

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — "Buy now, pay later" sales, long the way of commercial life for Brazilian shoppers and merchants, is losing status in this business-oriented country.

Statistics from credit bureaus show a growing "pay never" pattern in retail trade.

Rio's Credit Protection Service says it has files on 1.5 million shoppers, and 900,000 of them are classified as poor credit risks.

The Credit Bureau, in nearby Niteroi, says it has 200,000 negative files among a listing of 500,000 installment buying customers.

In Sao Paulo, Brazil's biggest and richest city, the Credit Bureau says its negative responses to merchants' credit queries totaled 430,000 in the first six months of 1974 — up from 331,000 in the first half of 1973.

Brazilian store owners expressed concern about the trend in a recent national meeting here.

"The increase in negatives is a result of the difficulties the people have in meeting their obligations," said Oscar Gimenez, coordinator of the conference. "The bad payer also exists to a large extent because of the ease of buying with credit, without planning the possibilities of paying."

Most Brazilian clothing, appliance, variety and department stores all advertise their prices broken down into monthly installments. About 70 per cent of all sales by such stores are made on credit.

Gimenez said this publicity often makes credit terms look easy, even to low-income shoppers. But he said when the buyer has to choose between meeting an installment and buying food, the installment goes unpaid.

Additionally, the Store Owners' Club of Rio reported that total retail sales in August were down nearly 10 per cent from August of the previous year.

defend his fabled brother — chief architect of the attempt to end the war in '44 by throwing Allied paratroops against the bridges that led to the Ruhr, and beyond.

The colonel is a placid little man with none of the braying arrogance of his brother, the Viscount. He has written a book titled "A Field Marshal in the Family," which will be published by Taplinger in New York next spring. He didn't seem certain, while here, that his overpowering brother would be amused.

"I was the youngest of nine Montgomery children," he said rather wistfully. "I never had a pair of my own pants until I went to Sandhurst."

Dutch journalism reached its crest during the occupation, when a local editor added a precious (and dangerous) line to a Nazi communique which had scoffed at the effectiveness of an RAF raid. The communique said, in effect, "Thanks to German ground fire they were driven away. The only hit they scored was on a cow."

The Dutch editor wrote a brave postscript. It read: "The cow burned four days."

Sen. Mondale Studies Race Of The Past

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale says he is "99 per cent" certain he will seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

In appearances before the Minnesota AFL-CIO and the news media Tuesday night, the Minnesota Democrat stopped short of formally announcing his candidacy.

"I'm very strongly inclined to do it. I probably will do it," he told a news conference.

"I'm 99 per cent of the way there, but I have not yet decided ... I'm not trying to be coy, but I have not yet decided to run," Mondale said.

He declined to set a date for making a formal entry into the race.

In a 30-minute appearance before the state AFL-CIO convention, Mondale referred briefly to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's announcement Monday that the Massachusetts Democrat would not be a presidential candidate in 1976.

"The developments yesterday encourage me even more to believe that this is an idea that just might be possible," Mondale said. "I'm not kidding myself. It's going to be a long, tough road and I'm going to need a lot of help."

While Mondale was speaking to the AFL-CIO, Minnesota's other senator, 1968 Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey, told a Minneapolis news conference he would give Mondale a "ringing" endorsement at the labor convention today.

Humphrey said Mondale has a good chance of getting the nomination because he is well respected by his colleagues in Congress.

Mondale's appearance before the AFL-CIO came only a few hours after the convention adopted a resolution supporting a presidential bid by him.

Mondale said he intends to continue his heavy travel schedule this fall before making a final decision. He has visited about 20 states since January.

Electric Power Costs Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has taken a first step that could lead to lower electric-power rates for American consumers.

It approved a bill authorizing a three-year, $4-million study by the Federal Power Commission to determine whether and how the current pricing system should be changed.

The legislation is aimed at the "declining-block-rate" system under which the more power is consumed, the less is paid per unit. A key element of the FPC study would be the feasibility of a peak-pricing system. Under this method, a user would pay less for electricity at certain hours of the day.

“On second thought, Martha, maybe you'd better stand someplace else!”

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Doctors frequently hear their patients say they tend to get sick when their resistance is low.

This observation is valid. The whole concept of body resistance is a complicated phenomenon playing an active part in the prevention of illness, the cure of illness and the maintenance of good health.

Body resistance to illness and natural immunity depend on many factors. Experts in every field of medicine, genetics, chemistry and bacteriology are intrigued by the limitless variation of the body's defense mechanism.

Scientists have been exploring every possibility that will augment the body's natural reserve and resistance.

Rapid chilling of the body or excessive fatigue devitalizes the body's ability to resist infection. Malnutrition and vitamin deficiencies, endocrine and circulatory problems interfere with body's capacity to counter bacterial invasion.

Certainly, emotional disturbances, anxiety and stress are considered important in lowering resistance.

The newer knowledge of nutrition, the understanding of the relationship between the body and the mind, adequate rest and diversion, controlled exercise, and the careful use of leisure all add their contribution to man's own inherited body defense against infection and illness.

The relaxation of card playing sometimes turns out to be of greater physical and emotional pressure than one suspects. When tempers flare, tranquility and harmony may suddenly disappear.

A study done on a group of card players showed that the heartbeat and the pulse rate fluctuated and increased during the exciting moments of the game.

An interesting finding by a doctor who studied this facet of living showed that there are definite changes in the blood pressure during critical moments of the game.

Almost every card player has made the psychological observation that sleeplessness often follows the exhilaration of an active card game.

Let us not leave the card game without offering the suggestion that the room be well ventilated and cleared of concentrated smoke at regular intervals.

Ford Men Move Into Top Positions

WASHINGTON (AP) — His White House high command reorganized, President Ford now is looking to put his stamp on the balance of the administration he inherited from Richard M. Nixon.

One top adviser, Philip Buchen, said in an interview that a major shakeup of economic policy organization is underway, with longtime Ford associate L. William Seidman slated for a permanent, high-level post in that area.

Seidman, a millionaire accountant from Ford and Buchen's home town of Grand Rapids, Mich., is highly regarded by the President for his management creativity. He now is winding up a temporary job as architect of Ford's economic summits.

Buchen would disclose only that Seidman likely will inherit some of the duties of economic counselor Kenneth Rush, who is leaving the White House for a diplomat post. Seidman would not comment.

At the same time, Buchen indicated, Ford will sharpen his scrutiny of the rest of the federal bureaucracy, looking for allegiance and initiative in departments and agencies that lost impetus in the waning months of the Nixon presidency.

Meanwhile on Tuesday, Ford announced the appointment of Donald Rumsfeld, 42, a former House colleague who now is ambassador to NATO, as a presidential assistant responsible for coordinating White House operations.

Aside from the pending announcement on Seidman, Rumsfeld's appointment virtually completed reorganization of the White House staff. Now, of the six men closest to the President, each with an office near his, only one is a Nixon holdover, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Rumsfeld is to go to work Friday, succeeding Alexander M. Haig Jr., but without either the title or the sweeping powers that Haig and his predecessor, H.R. Haldeman, once held as chiefs of staff.

Robert Hartmann, the speechwriter-counselor who sits next to the Oval Office, said Rumsfeld's duties would be "more in character of an administrative assistant, a guy who runs the office."

"Nobody will be No. 1 on the White House staff," Hartmann said. "All six of us will be No. 2s, without any particular pecking order, all with free access to the President."

Laundromat No Go-Go Joint

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Francis Solomon, who police said walked into a laundromat, took off his clothes and put them in a washer, was found guilty of disorderly conduct on Tuesday.

Defense attorney Raymond Phoenig argued that there was no one in the laundromat except a police officer. But police said there were about 10 women outside the window.

"Heaven knows, there are an awful lot of go-go places where it doesn't provoke a disturbance," Phoenig said.

AMA Group Leading Lobbyists

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The head of the largest political money operation in the nation is not ensconced in a plush Manhattan or Washington office.

He is a 50-year-old physician from Kettering, a Dayton suburb. Dr. W. J. Lewis, a general practitioner, is chairman of the American Medical Association's Political Action Committee.

So far this year AMPAC has spent $1,775,530 on politics. This includes $515,800 transferred to other committees, primarily state medical political action committees, reports filed with the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives disclose.

As of May 29, AMPAC reported $1.8 million in its treasury. This was the highest amount of any political action committee reporting. The dairy lobby was second with a reported $1.6 million on hand.

Despite its generous contributions to candidates, Dr. Lewis reports AMPAC "is not a lobbying organization at all." AMPAC, he said, "is trying to help good men get elected. It is not interested in specific legislation as such."

The decisions on which congressional and state candidates will be supported are almost always made by the political action committees of state medical associations, he said.

The Ohio group has already given $5,000 to U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown Jr., of Urbana and $3,000 to Thomas N. Kindness of Hamilton, candidate for congressman in the 8th District. Both are Republican conservatives who oppose liberal-backed government health insurance plans.

Dr. Lewis said his organization has no position on the Kennedy-Mills bill to establish government health insurance, but he, like many doctors and the American Medical Association opposes the measure.

AMPAC's fund raising is voluntary, Dr. Lewis said. Members are told they may earmark $25 from annual dues for political action. A 12-member state board of the Ohio Medical Political Action Committee decides who will get the money in Ohio.

"We don't solicit anybody directly," said Dr. Lewis. "It is all very voluntary."

One-third or more of Ohio's doctors now contribute to the fund, Dr. Lewis estimated.

Columnist To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Syndicated columnist Joseph W. Alsop has announced plans to retire at the end of the year after 42 years as a newsman.

The 63-year-old Alsop, a leading Washington observer, announced his decision in a column for today's newspapers. He told a reporter he would continue to write an occasional column after retirement on New York's Day and planned an around-the-world trip.

He became a newsman in 1932 and started a syndicated Washington column, The Capital Parade, in collaboration with Robert E. Kintner in 1937. After World War II service in China, Alsop began a new column with his younger brother, Stewart, which ran until 1958 when Stewart joined the staff of the Saturday Evening Post magazine.

Since then, Alsop's column, distributed by the Los Angeles Times Syndicate, has been a solo effort. Stewart died of leukemia last May 26.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hubby Tries To Date

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday the man across the street came up to me while I was outside and said, "Where is your old man?"

I said, "If you mean my husband, he is at work. Why do you want to know?" Then he said, "Because your husband has been calling up my old lady and trying to get her to go out with him."

I didn't know what to say next, so I said, "Well, he'll be home in about an hour. Why don't you come back and talk to him?" Then I went into the house and cried.

When my husband came home, I told him what happened. He said it was all a big lie, but he looked nervous and took off right away saying he'd be right back. He called me up later to say he wouldn't be home for supper.

Meanwhile, the man from across the street came over again, asking for my husband. He said my husband had called up his wife again and asked her to say she must have been mistaken that the guy who was trying to get her to go out with him was somebody else.

I don't know who to believe, Abby. If my husband had stayed home and faced his neighbor like a man, I would have had more faith in him. What do you think?

shorty nightgowns with nothing on underneath, and often run through the house with nothing on top and very little below.

I asked the girls to please keep themselves covered, for the sake of modesty, and they looked at me like I was out of my mind.

My wife says there is nothing shameful about the body. I am now wondering if maybe I am wrong.

I can't help thinking that those young ladies should change their ways instead of me changing my ideas.

OLD GOAT

DEAR GOAT: You're not wrong. They are.

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "stuck with the kids" could have been written by me. Fresh out of college, I got a dream job. Then marriage, and boom! Two kids, one right after the other. (Both accidents.) I resented them terribly for robbing me of my freedom. Then I felt guilty because I couldn't "love" them like a mother should.

I never hurt my kids physically, but emotionally I was destroying them and myself.

I tried alcohol, drugs, even suicide. I wrote to you as a last resort, and your answer sunk in. I lucked out with a terrific psychiatrist.

I'm glad you "stuck" that a seemingly overwhelming situation can be dealt with and to get professional help but fast! I pray that she does. It was my salvation. Thank you, Abby. BLESSED

HURT

DEAR HURT: I think your husband has a lot of explaining to do.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a lovely woman. She has two daughters, 15 and 17. They are fine girls, but they go around the house half nude. They stand around in the kitchen in their

Nuptial Vows Exchanged In Zion Methodist Church

Zion United Methodist Church of Ashville was the setting for the 1:30 p.m., June 8th, wedding of Miss Sherry Kay Pennington and Mr. Tony Lee Betts.

Manpower Bill To Require Volunteer Medical Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2-billion manpower bill that would require one-fourth of all medical students receiving federal aid to work in volunteer medical service has been passed by the Senate.

Approved Tuesday and sent to the House, the measure would require each medical school receiving federal aid to set aside 25 per cent of its enrollment slots each year for students who would volunteer to serve in an area with a shortage of physicians.

A broader proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was defeated after opponents denounced it as a domestic draft of all medical school graduates for national service.

Kennedy argued that Washington has poured billions into aid for medical schools and scholarships and loans for medical students.

Therefore, he said, it is fair to ask all of the graduates to serve for two years in a shortage area. If the Health, Education and Welfare Department found that not all were needed, a lottery would have been used to select those to serve under the Kennedy plan.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., contended this proposal was much too drastic. He offered the substitute, which was approved to finance training of doctors and other health professionals for the next three years.

The volunteers would get scholarships and pay for loans to pay for their education. They would perform one year of service for each year they received scholarship aid.

The Beall measure also seeks to put some controls on the large numbers of foreign-trained doctors in the U.S.

It would require that these physicians pass written and oral tests similar to those taken by American-trained doctors and that they be proficient in English.

It does not contain the provision for federal licensing of all doctors, which Kennedy had proposed.

The volunteer service would be performed in such areas as rural communities and innercity neighborhoods.

Fish Stocking Being Planned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly three-quarters of a million fish will be stocked in the state's lakes and streams this fall, the Department of Natural Resources announced today.

About 150,000 coho fingerlings will be stocked this year, compared to 93,000 in 1973. A total of 31,000 coho were stocked in 1968 when the program began.

Other fish put into the state's waterways are nine-inch muskie fingerlings, largemouth bass, channel catfish and muskellunge.

Tiny Kingdom Of 'Shangri-La' Becomes Part Of Pakistan

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — The tiny landlocked mountain kingdom of Hunza, which claims to be the original Shangri La, has lost its last vestige of independence and become part of Pakistan.

Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto of Pakistan announced the merger during a tour of tribal areas along the Pakistan-China border.

Pakistan "is one and cannot afford to have states within a state," Bhutto said. "It belongs to the peasants and the workers, not to nawabs and mirs (princes and kings). We have no enmity for any individual, but we have to end the reactionary system and run the country according to our mandate."

Home Minister Abdul Quayum Khan said the merger was effective immediately, and officials from the Pakistani government had been sent to take over the administration.

The merger ends 900 years of benevolent feudalism for Hunza and retires the state's 65-year-old ruling mir, Lt. Gen. Jamal Khan, on a pension.

The tranquil life of Hunza, the longevity of its people and their apparently idyllic way of life are said to have inspired James Hilton's novel "Lost Horizon."

But the world has been steadily moving in on Hunza since the partition of India and the withdrawal of the British in 1947. Since then, the mir has been reduced to little more than a figurehead with responsibility only for resolving local disputes according to custom.

Changes in diet and disease resulting from increased contact with the outside world have sharply reduced the number of people living past the age of 100.

Pakistan plans to open up the state as a tourist center.

World Grain Supply Unusually Tight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world grain supply has been reduced to the point where it is unusually tight because of harvest declines in the United States, Soviet Union and other key countries, the Agriculture Department says.

Officials said the situation as of mid-September indicates significant downward revisions from crop estimates made Aug. 20.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service said the revisions included declines in grain harvest for the Soviet Union, down 5 million metric tons; Western Europe, down 2.1 million; Canada, down 3.4 million; and other countries, down about 2 million tons.

"Projected world wheat production in 1974 has been lowered from 360.5 million tons to 351.6 million tons, reflecting primarily reduced harvest prospects in the United States, Canada and the Soviet Union," the report said Tuesday.

It noted, however, that wheat production in Europe is up 2.4 million tons over the August projection. Production of coarse grain, including corn, was estimated at 581.8 million tons, down from 585.3 million a month ago. Most of the decrease was attributed to reduced harvest in Canada, Western Europe, India and the People's Republic of China.

Feedgrain output in the United States, the world's largest producer, improved the past month and is expected to total 160.8 million tons, up from 158.9 million in August.

The cutback in wheat prospects points to a smaller world reserve during 1974-75 instead of a "modest increase" which was anticipated in August, officials said.

Residential Gas Rates To Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. said Wednesday residential customers in 62 Ohio counties can expect a $2.57 increase in their average monthly bill by December.

A pending rate hike of 6.4 per cent, effective Dec. 1, was disclosed Wednesday in a meeting with Columbus city officials.

This boost follows an 8.3 per cent increase in gas rates announced Aug. 30 and scheduled to go into effect next Wednesday.

A Columbia Gas spokesman said the first hike will cost home users about $1.47, while the December increase will raise customers bills an additional $1.10.

The two increases will bring the average monthly bill for residential customers to $20.21, he said.

The new rates also affect commercial users.

Columbia Gas Chairman W.F. Laird said the December price increase stems from a new rate request filed last spring by the company's supplier with the Federal Power Commission.

Laird said the supplier asked for a return on investment of about 15 per cent.

The power commission has yet to approve the request, but meanwhile the supplier can charge the higher rate, subject to refund if the power commission decides it is unjustified.

Under a price adjustment clause in its rate schedule, Columbia Gas can pass along to the consumer the increase in the wholesale price of gas.

The gas company estimates residential customers use about 15,000 cubic feet of gas a month. At the end of 1969 this amount cost $12.32, at the end of 1973 it was $15.44.

Laird said the cost of gas to homeowners will have soared to 55.1 per cent between January 1970 and October 1974, with the biggest jump occurring this year.

He also said that industries served by Columbia Gas will face a 20 per cent cutback in their gas supply by winter and the decrease will continue until Columbia begins importing liquefied natural gas from Algeria in 1976.

Laird was among gas company officials meeting with Mayor Tom Moody, Utilities Director Robert Newlon and other cabinet members and city council members.

'Generation Gap' Instead Of Officials

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When the date was chosen for Marin County Day at the California State Fair this year the county supervisors were invited to attend. But, alas, it was their regular meeting day.

A singing group called the "Generation Gap" was chosen in their place.

Brown Calls Off Probe Of Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown called off his investigation Wednesday into possible wrongdoing in connection with a 1973 chicken brunch that raised $158,000 for the campaign of former Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Brown said after receiving an amended report from the Rhodes for Governor Committee there was "no evidence of irregularities in receiving or reporting contributions which would require a further investigation by my office or a report to the attorney general."

Brown, a Republican seeking reelection, was accused by his Democratic opponent, Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton, of balking at the probe because he shares the state GOP ticket with the former governor.

In its amended report, the committee, headed by J. Gordon Peltier, reiterated its earlier claim that individual sales of tickets to more than 6,000 persons—at $25 each—accounted for the receipts at the October 1973 chicken brunch.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There can be adventure and humor even in the beginning reader books. A rhyming story will really encourage repetition of useful words, even if sometimes the child's audience longs for a change.

"Little Pig" and "Nat the Rat" are among the new titles in this category. When Little Pig's owner, a bright first grader, finds his little pet adores being a house guest he had to build a cozy hut outdoors to prevent trouble. "Nat" the rat steals the king's rings while cats nap which should delight sing-songing youngsters.

"Days for Seeing", another early book, follows two boys stranded in a dark building at night. "Lions" charts the adventures of many young students as they participate in all the happy activities of first graders.

Walt Disney's beloved characters give new life to old tales. It's really delightful to know that beginners will be able to read "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" on their own. The element of suspense as Mickey Mouse in the role of the great magician's helper, who almost loses his life will hold the reader's attention. Robin Hood and his band of rogues seize the gold of Prince John in "Robin Hood and the Great Coach Robbery."

"A Cow For Jaya" gives an unusual close up look at daily life in India. But there's danger, too, as Jaya learns unhappily that in a crowd it is possible to be mistaken for a thief.

To capture the imagination of many children just give them a story of a brave horse that is also a companion. In Walter Farley's first book for the very early grades, "Little Black, A Pony", a rescue from a dangerous hole in the ice is the highlight for the reader. If your third grader would like some excitement, take home "Black Kettle, King of the Wild Horses." When an admirer of horses plans to capture a roaming colt, a little Indian boy struggles to preserve the horse's freedom.

Magical charms, wishes that come true and a touch of magic are present in "Raggedy Ann and Andy's Sunny Stories." The two gentle dolls try to

Price Tag For Gilligan Plan Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate James Rhodes called on Democratic Gov. John Gilligan Wednesday to put a price tag on his proposed new education and health programs.

The former governor contended in a campaign statement that the proposals would require doubling the state income tax.

In announcing the proposals for higher education, primary and secondary education, health care for children, emergency medical services and health care for the elderly, Gilligan said they can be accomplished without new or increased taxes.

Gilligan said the program could be financed within the present revenue structure and he would spell out the costs during the campaign.

"When Gilligan claims these new programs can be added in Ohio without new taxes, you know he is either hiding more state money or we have reached the silly season of the campaign," Rhodes said.

"Why do people of Ohio have to wait weeks before they find out what all these new programs are going to cost them?" he asked.

Rhodes and Gilligan's "no new taxes" claim was a "desperate effort to rid himself of the Tax-Happy Jack image."

make life happier by searching for folk's lost possessions and trying to win over cruel hearts with their kind ways. Another volume by Johnny Gruelle is "Raggedy Ann and Andy's Merry Adventures."

"Gregory's Stitches" is the hilarious account of a simple accident. One by one his friends build up the story, adding details until a heroic adventure has been reconstructed. Nothing soothes a hurt like imagining it was all in the line of bravery.

Good reading in the children's room is available for your family. Come in and enjoy it.

Don't forget the pre-school story hour begins Tuesday afternoon, October 1st at 1:30. See you then!

PICKAWAY PTO
The Pickaway Twp. Parent Teacher Organization met at the school recently. Mrs. Gilbert Wamsley was the devotional leader.

Officers for the 1974-75 school year are: Mrs. Mary Mears, president; James Eads, vice president; Mrs. Tacie Dumm, secretary; Larry and Pam Harris, treasurer; Mrs. Judy Pontius, news reporter.

It was decided at the meeting to: Continue to supply milk for needy students, give $5 to the grade with the most parents and teachers present, donate to cancer, TB, polio and other worthy charities, give $25 to each teacher, aid and support teachers with classroom parties.

The fourth grade won attendance with 18 parents present. A membership drive will not be held as it is considered that all parents, teachers are automatically members.

A calendar containing teacher names, PTO officers, committee chairmen, project dates and organization objectives will be presented at the Oct. 10 meeting.

Plans were made to hold the Halloween carnival Oct. 26 with Keith Reeves as chairman. School board member Roger Hobbie explained the financial need of the Logan Elm School District. Everyone was urged to attend the school board meetings held the first Monday of each month.

The project planning committee members are: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smallwood and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Judy.

Mrs. Mears submitted her resignation as she and her family are moving to Manila. The vice president, James Eads, will assume the office of president. He stated that in the coming year the parent teacher, school board and child relationship will be stressed with the objectives of combining the unity of all.

Community Fund Drive

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is part of a series prepared by the Pickaway County Community Fund for the Herald, describing the 10 agencies which benefit from the annual campaign drive.

Six division chairmen of the Pickaway County Community Fund, met noon Wednesday, discussing the progress of the campaign drive, already in its second week.

Dr. James River, chairman, reported that $2425 has been collected thus far.

He also noted that County East is desperately in need of more volunteers, especially in Northwood Park and Circleville Township. Persons wishing to help in these locations should contact Jerry Leist.

The posters will be judged with the winners to be announced Saturday at the courthouse. Barb O'Shaughnessey, Debbie Chandler, Judy Bennington and Ann Hedges are the contest judges.

Harold Hewitt and The Children's Shop were added to the Century Club list.

The goal is $93,000 with the campaign closing Oct. 30.

Patrolmen 'Dusted'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Highway Patrol Supt. Robert Chiaramonte says there have been sporadic incidents around the state in recent months of truck drivers aiming their big rigs just shy of officers working on the berm.

He said several officers have been forced to leap behind or around cars they had stopped or into the dirt as highballing trucks were steered two to four feet off the road in their directions.

Called "dusting" by the truckers, the practice is used by a "small minority of truckers who apparently feel they are paying the patrol back for enforcing the 55 miles per hour speed limit, Chiaramonte said.

Chiaramonte said 14 truckers have been arrested in recent months, mostly on reckless operation charges, but a few on felony assault counts. So far no patrolmen have been injured.

The superintendent said the patrol will continue prosecuting dusting truckers and warned that an indictment for aggravated murder will be sought if an officer is killed.

Brown To Receive Investigation Power

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William J. Brown is expected to be given special powers to investigate possible election law violations within his own Democratic Party, the office of Gov. John J. Gilligan says.

Brown asked the governor in a letter Wednesday to authorize him to proceed with the probe with the same powers of those of a county prosecutor. He said his existing authority was "not entirely clear" under the statutes.

The investigation involves a February 1974 report of the U.S. General Accounting Office (GAO) in which the agency raised questions of Democratic irregularities in 1972.

Brown made a preliminary investigation, but then turned the matter in late July over to John Corrigan, prosecutor of Cuyahoga County in which the attorney general said violations may have occurred.

Corrigan, also a Democrat, sent the papers back to Brown last week, saying crowded court dockets had precluded him from moving ahead with the investigation.

Gilligan's office said Wednesday that the governor had not seen Brown's letter but was aware it was coming and indicated he will approve the request for broader powers.

The GAO raised questions about hiring state employees on the basis of their political affiliations and soliciting political contributions from them, seeking illegal contributions from labor unions and corporations, and the commingling of campaign and personal funds.

Brown indicated he will say what direction the investigation is taking prior to the Nov. 5 election.

Tigers Set For SCOL Opener

It'll be more than the battle of the Tigers when Circleville invades Greenfield Friday night. The game will be the South Central Ohio League opener for both schools and could well decide the league championship as both teams boast powerful squads.

All the SCOL teams have 2-1 marks after the three, opening non-league tilts. But Circleville and Greenfield have emerged at the top of the statistical battle with pre-season favorite Miami Trace.

The Tigers of Greenfield shutout Country Day 26-0 and Shawnee 6-0 on successive Fridays before bowing to Chillicothe 13-12 last week.

They lead the SCOL schools in scoring defense and defense against the rush, thanks to the wins, and have out-gained Circleville by four yards on the ground for second place behind Miami Trace.

Greenfield has allowed its three opponents only 217 yards rushing in three games, while churning up 669 yards. Circleville, with 665 yards rushing, has limited its opponents to 366. The Circleville passing attack has clicked for 102 yards as compared to only 58 for Greenfield.

But the big difference is in the attacks of the two offenses.

Greenfield is sparked by Gary Barr,

a senior tailback that goes 6-2, 190-pounds. Barr has nearly three-fourths of the Greenfield offensive yardage with 424 yards rushing in 105 carries.

Barr carried the ball 31 times against Shawnee to pick-up 76 yards in the opener. Against Country Day, he rambled 45 times for 246 yards as the offensive unit picked up 409 yards.

Greenfield could well have been 3-0 going into the contest, as they nearly had a come-from-behind win against Chillicothe last week.

The winning score came via the airways after Greenfield fumbled near midfield.

Chillicothe gained 138 yards rushing in the game, 96 in the first half. Greenfield rolled for 161 yards, but got 105 in the second half.

A big factor in the game was the inability of Tiger quarterback Kevin Kensing to complete a pass. He threw five times.

By contrast, Circleville has four backs that are a threat to go with the ball.

Pat McNaughton has gained 201 yards, Rick Sampill has rushed for 161, Biff Bumgarner has carried for 148, and Alan Underwood has traveled 110 yards in two games.

McNaughton is 4th in the league in total yardage and 5th in yards per carry with a 5.43 average. Barr leads the league in rushing yardage, but is not in the top 10 in yards per carry average.

Circleville also has the edge in passing with Phil Roll or Perry Hoskins. Roll is 7 of 19 for 88 yards, while Hoskins has hit on 2 of 8 for 14 yards.

The Tiger defense is led by middle guard Tim McNaughton, who has made 22 tackles in three games. Sophomore end Mearle Logan is credited with 20 tackles, Pat McNaughton and Scott Bowman have 18 each, Tim Hartinger, Tom Strawser, and Bruce Brudzinski have 15 tackles each, Tom England has 13, Brent Mancini has 12, and Alan Underwood and Perry Hoskins have 10 each.

"At this stage, we're ready for the game," Coach Larry Cook said Wednesday, as all the Tigers are up for the tilt. A flu bug has been circulating around the high school, and has forced several gridders to miss practices. But all are expected to be ready Friday.

CHS practices have been "excellent" in preparation for Greenfield. The Tuesday session was even cut short when the gridders accomplished their purpose ahead of time. Game films of last Friday's Athens contest pleased the coaching staff as the Tiger gridders stuck with their game plan for the win.

"We're not a spectacular team," Coach Cook said. "We try to control the tempo of the game and wear down the opposition."

The ball control offense really paid off when Pat McNaughton, given instructions to kill the clock, scampered for his long touchdown in the last minutes of the contest.

Circleville was complemented by the game officials at Athens, according to Coach Cook, for their poise after being hit with several tough penalties. The officials said the gridders never gave up or complained of the calls, but stuck to the game.

Athens High School treated the gridders in fine fashion. After the game, the Tigers were permitted to swim in the high school pool. And then they were treated to hot dogs and soft drinks by the AHS Booster Club.

Tigers of the week on offense were the McNaughton brothers. Pat earned the award as the top back, while Tim won for his line play. Tim has been a Tiger of the Week every week, the first two on defense.

Defensive lineman was Tom Strawser, while the back was Bruce Brudzinski.

The coaching staff awarded 25 black helmet stars, 15 to the offensive unit.

Starting lineup will remain about the same for Greenfield. The offensive right tackle spot will be manned by Tom England or Art Davis.

On defense, Tim Hartinger will be the left linebacker and Mearle Logan and Tom England will be the ends.

Cleveland Indians Top Brewers, 4-3

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ken Aspromonte's memory served him well Wednesday night.

The Cleveland Indians were losing 3-1 in the fourth inning of their American League baseball game with the Milwaukee Brewers and with the bases loaded Aspromonte called Jack Brohamer off the bench to pinch hit and the injured second baseman blasted a bases clearing double, giving the Indians a 4-3 margin they never lost.

"I remembered the way that he's been hitting (Jim) Slaton all season," Aspromonte said. "Jack is a fast ball hitter and that's what Slaton throws. Jack did the job and the move paid off."

Brohamer has been trying to get over a pulled hamstring muscle, and he limped into second base on the hit. He was removed from the game immediately after the game winning smash.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when singles by Oscar Gamble, Charlie Spikes and Tom McCraw backed each other up for a run, off loser Slaton, 13-15.

The Brewers scored three unearned runs in the second inning with the assistance of two fielding errors by shortstop Luis Alvarado.

Dave May opened the inning by reaching base when Alvarado dropped his ground ball. May moved to third on Mike Hegan's single and winner Jim Perry, 16-12, walked Sixto Lezcano to load the bases.

Alvarado then dropped the throw at second allowing May to score. Hegan scored on a fielder's choice and Lezcano crossed the plate on Pedro Garcia's single.

In the fourth inning Charlie Spikes started the inning with a single. McCraw collected his second single of the night and with one out Buddy Bell walked to load the bases.

With two outs Brohamer came to the plate, batting for Alvarado and put the game away.

The Indians made it 5-3 in the sixth when Dave Duncan scored on Duane Kuiper's single and added three unearned security runs in the eighth.

Bell singled, moved to second on a fielder's choice and with two outs Tommy Smith reached base on Pedro Garcia's error. Kuiper doubled scoring Bell and pinch hitter Rico Carty slapped a single to center scoring Smith and Kuiper for the final tally of 8-3.

The victory put the Indians back in fourth place one half game on top of the Brewers and gave reliever Tom Buskey his 18th save.

Grid Forecaster Likes Texas

NEW YORK (AP) — Any resemblance between this week's Top Ten and last week's is purely coincidental. So is any resemblance between this week's forecasting average and last week's.

The rash of upsets that invaded the Top Ten also played havoc with the prognosticating last week.

Secure in the knowledge that it can hardly get any worse, here goes:

Texas 28, Texas Tech 21: Texas was the only team to beat Tech last year and this one will be for blood.

Arizona State 24, Missouri 21: Mizzou's Al Onofrio played at Arizona State and used to be an assistant coach there and he's still helping the Sun Devils ... to a better season.

Southern California 31, Pitt 21: 31-21 A.D. That's Anthony Davis against Anthony Dorsett. The Pitt Panther will have come all the way back if it wins this one.

Texas A&M 28, Washington 7: Would you believe Washington is the only unbeaten-untied team in the Pac-8? Not for long.

Auburn 14, Tennessee 13: Despite last year's 21-0 whipping of Auburn, Tennessee usually has trouble with teams from Alabama.

Ohio State 49, Southern Methodist 14: Ohio State has the horses ... and a couple of Griffins.

Notre Dame 35, Purdue 10: Irish want that No. 1 spot.

Oklahoma 35, Utah State 10: So do the Sooners.

Alabama 35, Vanderbilt 10: So does the Crimson Tide.

Michigan 28, Navy 7: Last week, Navy beat Penn State for the first time since 1967. That was also the last year Navy beat Michigan. Don't bet on lightning striking twice, even though Michigan struggled to win 14-0 last year.

Nebraska 44, Northwestern 0: Cornhuskers make the Wildcats pay for last week's loss to Wisconsin.

Baylor 21, Oklahoma State 14: Second Upset Special. Arkansas upset Southern Cal, Oklahoma State upset Arkansas. Get it?

Illinois 27, Washington State 14: Illini look like the real thing this year.

Temple 21, Boston College 17: Third Upset Special. Temple has memories of last year's 45-0 setback, the only game the Owls lost.

Princeton 20, Rutgers 10: Another episode between college football's original rivals.

Florida 21, Mississippi State 14: State's bubble bursts.

Maryland 24, North Carolina 14: Terps are 0-2 but this is their Atlantic Coast Conference opener ... and they're the preseason favorites.

Tulane 27, West Virginia 20: The Green Wave is anything but green.

UCLA 30, Michigan State 21: UCLA's

winless and State's unbeaten ... but looking ahead to Notre Dame and Michigan.

PPG Wins Industrial Championship

In the final game of the Pickaway County Industrial Slo-Pitch League championship series, PPG downed Owens-Illinois 9-8.

The third game was needed after the teams split games Tuesday night.

Lloyd Crosby cracked a double to spark the come-from-behind win, and Mike Gray added the finishing touch by slamming two homers over the left field fence.

Winning pitcher was John Sharp, while Wayne Cooper took the loss.

Jake Bailey cracked a homerun for the losers while John Cooper, Fletcher, and Barker added a double each.

PP&K Clinic Set Saturday

Youngsters who have registered for the Punt, Pass, and Kick program at Jim Houseman Ford can get a head start on improving their skills at a special PP&K training clinic to be held Saturday, Sept. 28, at the Circleville Junior High School field.

The clinic will begin at 11 a.m. and last about three hours.

Its purpose, according to Randy Weller, spokesman of the Ford dealer, is to familiarize entrants with competition procedure and to provide coaching in punting, passing, and place kicking.

Larry Cook, head coach at Circleville High School, is clinic director for the special session. Throughout his 11 years of experience in athletics, Coach Cook has made football his specialty and has devoted a great deal of time working with youngsters.

He has been an assistant coach for four years and head coach for seven, including a three-year tenure at Circleville High School. Cook is also assistant track coach at Circleville.

In addition to Coach Cook, Jim Houseman Ford is enlisting a number of assistants to provide extra, personal supervision as each youngster practices his or her skills.

Registration at Jim Houseman Ford is open to all youngsters between the ages of 8 and 13, accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no entry fee. Purchase is not necessary. Registration closes October 4.

Each entrant will receive a free PP&K Tips Book from his sponsoring Ford Dealer. This book contains all rules of competition, conditioning exercises as well as valuable punting, passing and place-kicking tips from outstanding pros.

Local competition will be held on October 5. Participation in PP&K requires no special equipment and does not impair a youngster's amateur standing.

A youngster's chances of winning in every level which he achieves is increased by the fact he or she competes only against others in the same age group.

Hopeful Reds Top Astros, 4-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Expect a miracle," urged the tattered clipping on the office bulletin board of Cincinnati Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

But the Reds are running out of time and miracles.

Wednesday night's 4-1 victory over the Houston Astros renewed faint hopes.

The message is clear: win the remaining six games of the season and hope for an eleventh hour plunge by the Los Angeles Dodgers who lead by four games. The Dodgers road to Atlanta 5-2 to keep the magic number for clinching the pennant at three.

The Reds kept their fading chances aglow behind a strong pitching performance by Clay Kirby and the torrid bat of young Ken Griffey.

Kirby blanked the Astros for seven innings before weakening in the eighth. The Reds staked him to a 3-0 lead after two innings, enabling the righthander to win his 11th game against nine losses. It was only his fifth triumph in 15 career decisions against the Astros.

It maintained the Reds mastery over Houston. Cincinnati has won 13 of the 17 meetings.

Jack Billingham, 19-10, attempts to become the National League's first 20 game winner of the season when he squares off against J.R. Richard, 2-1, tonight.

Griffey, the streak-hitting speedster who was a crucial contributor in Cincinnati's pennant push last fall, rapped out two hits, including a triple.

Shipped to the minors when his average dipped below .200 last spring, Griffey has returned with a vengeance. Since he's been elevated in July he's hitting .320.

He's making a bid for an outfield job next season and plans to play winter ball if needed to sharpen his skills.

"When I went down I didn't think I'd get another chance this year," said Griffey. "I was a little timid up here this spring. I started off bad and it was getting to me. I've seen enough of that bench. I've got to find out what I can do."

He has 11 hits in his last six starts. Barring winter trades, he and George

Foster appear as prime prospects for right field.

Larry Dierker, 10-10, took the loss.

Pete Rose opened the game with his career-high 43rd double of the year and scored on Tony Perez's single. The Reds added two more in the second on back-to-back singles by Cesar Geronimo and Dave Concepcion and Griffey's runcoring single.

Griffey tripled in the fourth and scored on a wild pitch by Dierker.

"People say a certain game makes you or breaks you," said Red Schoendienst, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, as he savored his team's nervewrenching 13-12 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "If there ever was a game to do it, this was it."

Rookie Jim Dwyer, a seldom used St. Louis reserve, knocked in the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the 11th inning Wednesday night.

The Cardinals recovered from a 5-0 first-inning deficit, then bounced back after the Pirates had scored three times in the top of the 11th and had taken a 12-9 lead.

The Cards' victory lifted them into first place, one-half game ahead of the Pirates. Their edge is in the win column. They have won one more game than Pittsburgh. Both teams have lost the same number of games.

St. Louis has six games remaining—all on the road—three at Chicago and three at Montreal. Pittsburgh has seven games left—four at New York and three at home against Chicago.

Meanwhile, in the National League West, the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers were beaten by the Atlanta Braves 5-2 and their lead over Cincinnati was reduced to four games. The Reds kept their dim pennant hopes alive with a 4-1 triumph over the Houston Astros. The Dodgers' pennant-clinching number is three. Both Los Angeles and Cincinnati have six games left.

In other National League action, the San Diego Padres edged the San Francisco Giants 3-2, the Philadelphia Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 6-2, 6-3, and the Montreal Expos beat the Chicago Cubs 7-1, 3-2.

Ted Sizemore began St. Louis' winning rally with a single in the bottom of the 11th against rookie Juan Jimenez, the Pirates' sixth pitcher, Reggie Smith walked and Ted Simmons doubled, driving in Sizemore and driving out Jimenez.

Then with another rookie, Jim Minshall, pitching, Joe Torre grounded to second baseman Rennie Stennett, who had not made an error in 59 previous games but whose string was broken when he dropped a fly ball in the fifth inning. Stennett then made his second error of the game, throwing wildly to first, as Smith and Simmons raced home, tying the score 12-12.

After Ken Reitz struck out, Bake McBride bunted safely, and Dwyer followed with his game-winning sacrifice fly, scoring pinch runner Larry Herndon.

Memphis Southmen Stop Shreveport

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Shreveport Steamer sailed into the World Football League Wednesday night ... and sank.

There were plenty of hands on deck as the former Houston Texans played their first game in their new home. And the 21,357 fans who braved chilly, rainy weather had something to cheer about when Charlie Durkee gave them a 3-0 lead over Memphis with a 48-yard firstquarter field goal.

But from then on, it was all Memphis as the Southmen rolled to a 17-3 victory.

In other WFL action, Portland upset Birmingham 26-21, Southern California stamped past Jacksonville 57-7 and Philadelphia beat Hawaii 21-16.

Rookie quarterback Danny White tossed a 19-yard touchdown pass to Roger Wallace in the second period, Bob Etter kicked a 41-yard field goal in the third and Willie Spencer bulled over from two yards out in the fourth in Memphis' triumph.

It lifted the Southmen, 11-2, into a first-place tie with Birmingham in the Central Division. With the loss, the Steamer remained submerged in the West with a 3-9 record.

Storm 26, Americans 21

Pete Beathard tossed a 16-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bob Christiansen with 35 seconds left in Portland's stunner over the Americans.

The 16-year veteran quarterback completed 22 of 34 passes for 255 yards in directing the Storm to its fourth victory in the last five games.

Sun 57, Sharks 7

Tony Adams threw for two touchdowns and ran for another — and reserve passer Gary Valbuena also tossed two scoring strikes — in Southern California's romp over Jacksonville, the biggest victory margin of any WFL game this season.

In less than three periods of play, Adams completed 13 of 21 passes for 244 yards, including touchdowns of 16 yards to wide receiver Ike Harris and five yards to running back James McAlister in the opening half.

Bell 21, Hawaiians 16

Jerry Warren kicked two field goals, both set up by pass interceptions, as Philadelphia came back from an 8-7 deficit. Ron Mabra intercepted two passes, his second setting up a fourth-quarter field goal from 33 yards out. Safety Don Vallery intercepted another pass, setting up a third-quarter 23-yard Warren boot.

Pro Picker Sees Rams Victory

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

The moment of truth arrives this weekend in the National Football League for the upstart New England Patriots.

The Patriots — one of the five unbeaten and untied teams after only two weekends of the 1974 season — will find out Sunday that although this may be the Year of the Tiger for the Chinese, it is the Year of the Ram in the NFL.

To set the record straight, the old Pro Pigsaw Picker was NOT 8-5 the first week. Not only did he not pick well, he did not count his losses correctly. It should have been 7-6. This means, that with last weekend's dismal 7-5-1 showing, the season mark is now 14-11-1 for .560. 'Nuff said.

Los Angeles (2-0) at New England (2-0): The Ram defenders dumped New Orleans' Archie Manning five times last week. They may not quite to the Patriots' Jim Plunkett get so often, but they will ... RAMS 27, PATRIOTS 18.

Cleveland (1-1) at St. Louis (2-0): And Cleveland Coach Nick Skorich says that St. Louis "seems to have put it all together." So why argue ...

Blackwood To Change Tackling

CINCINNATI (AP)—Lyle Blackwood says something's got to give. He hopes it's not his head.

"From now on I'm changing my style," said the Cincinnati Bengals defensive back, who says he's one of the few to tackle head-first rather than using a shoulder.

"Not no more. I don't want my head falling off," said the 23-year-old Blackwood, one of the few new names in the veteran Cincinnati lineup.

But a series of injuries are jeopardizing the job he won this summer when he dislodged Neal Craig.

"I've got to heal up and cut down on my mistakes or Bernard Jackson will be playing in my place," he said as he gingerly put on his shirt.

The Texas Christian University graduate was hospitalized Sunday night after being knocked unconscious against the San Diego Chargers.

X-rays proved negative, but his availability this week remains in doubt. He is among the Bengals' mounting injured list.

Cincinnati travels to San Francisco Sunday.

Blackwood's latest nagging ailment is a painful stiff back.

A neck injury that caused loss of feeling in his shoulder has reduced his effectiveness in the last three games.

"It's disappointing because I had a good exhibition season. I felt I deserved the job. Now all this. I'm just not getting things done," said Blackwood, one of the surprises of summer camp.

CARDINALS 21, BROWNS 18.

Chicago (1-1) at Minnesota (2-0): The Vikings are one of the few teams that haven't gone sour for oddsmakers and Pro Pigsaw Pickers yet this season ... VIKINGS 24, BEARS 10.

Oakland (1-1) at Pittsburgh (1-0-1): The oddsmakers like the Steelers by 10 points. So do we, but not that much ... STEELERS 24, RAIDERS 21.

Cincinnati (1-1) at San Francisco (2-0): These two teams have never clashed before, not even in exhibition games. When the first meeting is over, San Francisco will wish that Pete Rozelle had waited longer before making the introduction ... BENGALS 21, 49ERS 17.

Miami (1-1) at San Diego (11): The Dolphins are going to be like Big Bad Leroy Brown until they forget what happened on the opening weekend of the season ... DOLPHINS 31, CHARGERS 10.

New York Jets (1-1) at Buffalo (1-1): Even if O.J. still isn't at full speed, the Bills should handle Broadway Joe and Co. handily ... BILLS 24, JETS 14.

Kansas City (1-1) at Houston (1-1): Let's call for an upset of minor proportions ... OILERS 21, CHIEFS 17.

New York Giants (0-2) at Dallas (1-1): Dallas is home on the range this week, and discouraging words aren't said there. So ... COWBOYS 27, GIANTS 13.

Baltimore (0-2) at Philadelphia (1-1): The season isn't yet wacky enough for the Colts to stage an upset ... EAGLES 17, COLTS 7.

Detroit (0-2) at Green Bay (11): Detroit's new coach, Joe Forzano probably will still be looking for his first pro victory after meeting Green Bay ... PACKERS 20, LIONS 14.

Atlanta (0-2) at New Orleans (0-2): The Saints haven't forgotten that 62-7 pasting they got last year from the Falcons. So, in another mild upset ... SAINTS 14, FALCONS 10.

Denver (0-1-1) at Washington (1-1): George Allen and crew won't be caught napping in the Monday night game. So let's say ... REDSKINS 21, BRONCOS 17.

Browns Seek Good Wide Receiver Set Playoff In Ohio Open

CLEVELAND (AP) — They're men who roam the outer reaches of offensive football patterns, weaving around defenders looking to catch the big bomb.

They wear the label of wide receiver and the Cleveland Browns are looking for someone with the necessary gazellelike movements.

Steve Holden, who was drafted No. 1 last year but didn't do too well, appeared to be finally making it this season when an injury in last week's 20-7 victory over Houston put him out of action for at least two weeks.

Last Sunday Holden caught five passes for 83 yards. This Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals he'll be watching Jubilee Dunbar filling in for him.

Dunbar was acquired in a trade with the New Orleans Saints prior to this season and is in his third pro season.

"Dunbar has come along much better the last two weeks," Skorich said. "He is doing a much better job running patterns."

Dunbar takes over the left wide receiver spot while Glover Richardson moves over to the right, where Holden played.

Dunbar was the San Francisco 49ers choice in the third-round of the 1972 draft. He spent his first season on the 49ers taxi squad. He was traded to the Saints prior to 1973 and made an immediate impression.

HUESTON WOODS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Bailey of Columbus meets Boon Good, Alliance, today in a playoff of the southnorth section winners for the 40th Ohio Open Golf Tournament at Hueston Woods.

"It's a shame the two sections couldn't resolve their differences," said Bailey, a 29-year-old assistant pro from the Scioto Country Club.

He won the southern sectional here Wednesday with a 72-hole stroke total of 284.

"It was, I understand, the southern section's turn to host the entire tournament."

Good, 26, from Sleepy Hollow Country Club, winner of the north, arrived Wednesday night too late to play a complete practice round at the Hueston Woods State Park course.

"It's the first time I've seen the place," said Good. "I didn't get to play the eighth and ninth—holes—because they turned the sprinklers on, but it looks like a good golf course."

Bailey turned in a final 36-hole total of 139, five under par, to beat out defending champion Dick Plummer, Cincinnati, 292.

Girl Helped In Kidnap Capture

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—In an ironic twist to the case, it was learned Wednesday that the daughter of an FBI supervisor helped the accused kidnaper of 4-year-old Allison Mechem surrender to authorities.

Meanwhile, police reported they were searching for two more suspects in the kidnaping. And the man in custody, Frank Joseph Wiechman, 26, of Cincinnati, was scheduled for court arraignment on kidnap charges this morning.

Police declined to comment on a Cincinnati Enquirer report that Wiechman was at work at a downtown Cincinnati automobile agency at the time of the kidnaping.

The blonde, blue-eyed Allison, daughter of broadcast executive Charles S. Mechem Jr., returned to normal living Wednesday as her parents sent her back to nursery school.

The child was found crying alone in a motel room Tuesday.

After learning the girl had been recovered, Wiechman, paroled from Florida for armed robbery convictions, sat in a chili parlor near his home with friends, discussing whether to surrender.

It was a young waitress, Maria Hogan, daughter of J. Gerald Hogan, assistant to the special agent in charge of the Cincinnati office of the FBI, who arranged the surrender.

She said Wiechman was a regular customer at the chili parlor and she served him chili or double-decker sandwiches nightly.

While her father helped run the massive manhunt and kidnap recovery for 24 hours, Maria did not know

Wiechman was wanted.

The FBI and police had traced Wiechman through the car used in the Monday afternoon kidnap through its license tag. It belonged to the man Wiechman had purchased it from, police revealed.

The car was abandoned with a ransom note and some of the child's belongings in the parking lot of a carry-out store.

"I talked to him some when he came in every night," said Miss Hogan. "I wasn't friendly with him, but he was well-mannered."

Wiechman had just finished eating Wednesday night when a friend came in to say the girl had been found and that he had seen Wiechman's picture on television as the wanted man.

Wiechman first tried to telephone his probation officer "but he couldn't get him for some reason," Miss Hogan said.

Then, another man at the counter, "Doug, I don't know his last name, he comes in every night too — said why don't you ask her to call her father to help. He's with the FBI."

Miss Hogan, who was washing dishes, looked up and was "stunned."

"Then he—Wiechman—said, 'yes, call your father'," she said.

"I knew the number. When I got my father on the phone I explained and then gave him (Wiechman) the telephone."

With that, Miss Hogan made herself "scarce" until after the police and FBI agents converged on the shopping center restaurant. There was no struggle.

Police confirmed Wednesday that Mechem, chairman of the board of

Nova LN Sedan

Monza 2+2

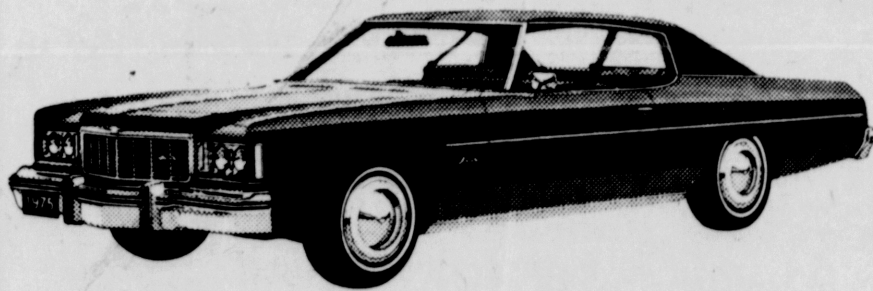

MONZA 2+2 The small car of tomorrow will probably be a little more powerful, handy and comfortable than ever. The 1975 Monza 2+2, shown above, offers this today. It has advances like rectangular headlights set in a soft front end, fold-down rear seat, and a new 4.3-litre V8 engine available.

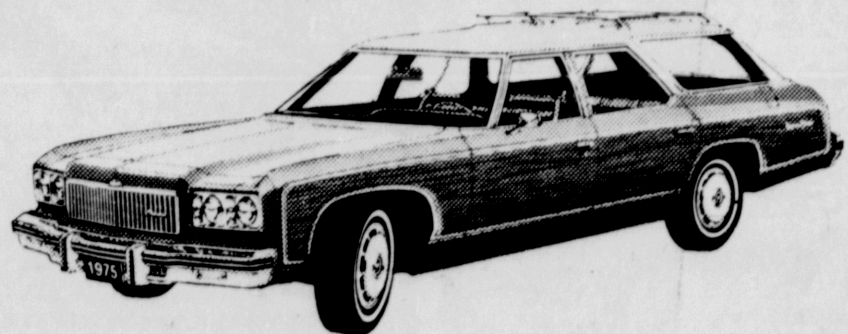

NOVA In the background above, our new Nova LN Sedan. A luxurious Nova with thick carpeting and wide-back reclining front seats. For 1975, all Novas have been emphatically refined along the lines of elegant European sedans. Nova's always been good. Now it's beautiful.

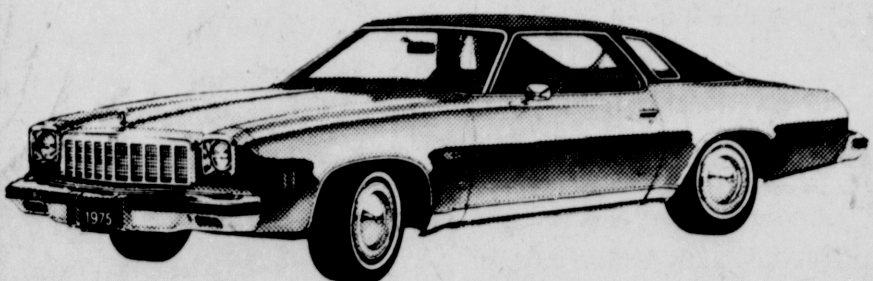

CAMARO Our sensibly sporty compact. It looks like a million and drives like it looks.

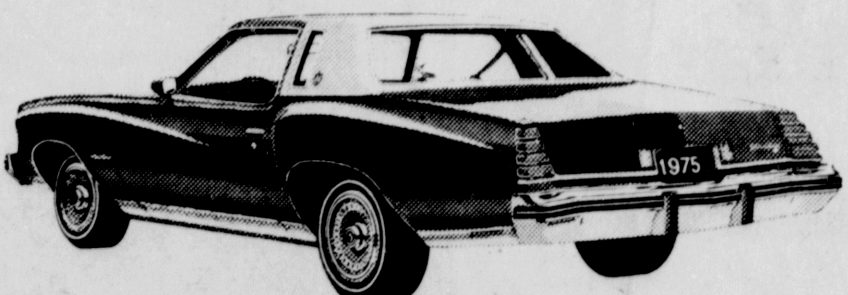

IMPALA America's favorite car continues to provide the room many families need plus plenty of quiet and comfort. Still the great American value.

WAGONS Big ones, small ones, in-between ones. Practical wagons that make sense for America. And you.

CHEVELLE Mid-size, easy to drive, room for six, mid-priced, strong reputation for value. America's most popular intermediate.

MONTÉ CARLO Its special ability: making you feel good. About the way it looks and drives. About your own taste and judgment.

CHEVROLET'S NEW EFFICIENCY SYSTEM FOR 1975

It's the key part of a program aimed at helping our new cars run leaner (more economically), run cleaner—and save you money every mile.

The Efficiency System is standard on all 1975 Chevrolets with V8 or 6-cylinder engines. It's a series of significant engineering improvements working together for the very first time.

Components include High Energy Ignition, catalytic converter, Early Fuel Evaporation and steel-belted radial ply tires. In sum, the System is designed to heighten the pleasure and lower the cost of driving a 1975 Chevrolet—to bring you a better running car in many ways, along with improved fuel economy, more miles between recommended maintenance and an engine that stays cleaner internally because of no-lead fuel.

Your Chevrolet dealer will gladly give you the details and answer your questions. See him and the sensible 1975 Chevrolets starting September 27.

Lexington Police Chief Wounded

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — William Rein, police chief in nearby Lexington, was in satisfactory condition at Mansfield General Hospital today after being wounded by a gunman when he interrupted a drug store holdup.

Hospital spokesmen said Rein was wounded in the lower abdomen and was being kept in an intensive care unit. They said he would have to undergo surgery for removal of the bullet.

Meanwhile, authorities continued to search for two of the three men who were robbing the Lexington Pharmacy in the small town southwest of here Wednesday when Rein entered the store and was shot.

The third man was apprehended in the Mansfield suburb of Ontario after he fled the holdup scene in Rein's marked car. Police withheld his identity.

The other two escaped in a late model silver compact car, and the Richland County Sheriff's office said roadblocks set up in the area failed to turn up the pair.

Officers said there were no customers in the store when the gunmen entered and forced an employee to turn over drugs and an undetermined amount of money.

Rein apparently happened upon the scene. He was felled as he walked through the door, according to police.

A cash register alarm was activated at the police station and other officers arrived at the store after the robbers had fled.

Fifi Gone, Honduras Still Suffers

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — No one in Honduras paid much attention early last week as Hurricane Fifi crept through the Caribbean sea.

It was just another storm to the 2.6 million people in this triangle-shaped Central American country.

Fifi is gone. But Honduras, a nation reeking of poverty, is flat on its back with Fifi's name etched forever in the national memory, the worst disaster in Honduran history.

The government estimates that 7,500-8,000 died. No one will ever know for sure how many perished. The National Emergency Committee said another 100,000 are homeless.

No one knows how many people died of hunger after Fifi destroyed almost 50 per cent of the nation's food crops. The Hondurans were undernourished, hungry, in abject poverty, before the storm came. In their usual state of malnutrition they were not up to holding on for the three, four or five days it took for the floods to recede enough to get food and shelter to them.

With almost half this season's corn and bean crops gone, the nation faces starvation.

Poverty is common in Honduras; the average annual income is less than $260. Many peasants have almost no cash income; they live off their crops and by bartering. Beggars abound in the cities. Boys drop out of first grade to shine shoes to help buy food.

People were warned about Fifi. But few paid attention. Only 10 days before, Hurricane Carmen skirted the coast without serious damage. Even if the barefoot, poorly clad people wanted to leave they had nowhere to go and no way to get there.

Measured against other killer storms, Fifi was just a kitten. The storm had sustained winds of 125 miles an hour with gusts up to 140 m.p.h. Carmen's winds gusted up to 175 m.p.h. and there was no large loss of life.

Fifi did her damage with water. She dumped up to 24 inches of rain in 36 hours on northeastern Honduras.

As Fifi's eye trudged slowly offshore, tides 15 feet above normal rose in the mangrove swamps, blocking the flow of the rivers. The torrential rain suddenly turned tranquil mountain streams into raging torrents. The streams flowed into the Ulua, Chamelecon and Aguan rivers, and the rivers had nowhere to go except over their banks.

Damage throughout the country far surpassed the gross national product. Between 80 and 95 per cent of the banana crop was wiped out, with a loss of half a billion dollars.

People tried to help. But the aid pouring in from other countries in plane after plane ran into bottlenecks. Only 20 per cent of the railroad lines survived. There are few paved roads.

As the first week after the storm neared its end, reports came in of outbreaks of disease. Rotting bodies of the dead, animal and human, were taking their toll.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Review past successful procedures as guidelines for this day's action, but don't summarily reject new ideas and methods. You could couple past AND present experience to great advantage.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Keep emotions under stern control so as to insure better judgment in difficult situations. Further admonitions: Don't overtax yourself; don't overelaborate in handling details.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Some challenges possible, but face them—unafraid. With the Geminian's ingenuity and foresightedness, you should solve all situations handily.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may not blaze any trails now, but that shouldn't stop you from being the dedicated individual you usually are. It will pay, too—with gains of enduring worth.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): A fine outlook! Day will be good for making profitable deals and arrangements. Knock down to steady business, forge ahead with a carefully prepared program.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Certain limitations to your success can be overcome if you take time to redefine your aims and expand operations so as to make a wider use of your talents.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Reach as far, high and wide as your talents permit. Excellent influences stimulate all your skills and endeavors. Don't press too hard, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Take the strategic approach to all situations. And, in discussions, be careful not to be overly aggressive or too forceful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Take longer if necessary to go over details: Better be sure than sorry. The quantity of your endeavors will not count as much as their quality.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn influences generous. You can make this day stand out by adding a touch of originality to your work and through more exhaustive study of the fine points.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may encounter a few baffling situations: Remain undisturbed, neither overanxious, nor careless. Avoid excesses and extremes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A desire to reach beyond your limitations could unhinge nerves and disposition, cause disruption of a smooth schedule. Watch it!

YOU BORN TODAY, as so many other Librans, are extremely talented along artistic lines, and your creativity, coupled with an intensely idealistic and philosophical nature, often inspires you to create works of almost awesome beauty—especially in literature or music. Your gift for words is outstanding and evidences itself in highly articulate speech as well as in your writings. You are a brilliant conversationalist and should you take up a career at law, for instance, your eloquence and convincing arguments would probably soon propel you into statesmanship or diplomacy, where you would shine. Other fields in which you could excel: painting, medicine, banking and the stage. Traits to curb: Living in the past and brooding over fancied slights. Birthdate of: Charles H. Percy, U.S. Senator; St. Alfonso da Ligouri, scholar, theologian.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC News is awaiting the results of a year-long survey of what viewers might like to see if the network expands its weeknight television news show from a half-hour to 45 minutes or an hour.

But it doesn't mean ABC plans to break the half-hour news barrier soon. The survey, says ABC News President Bill Sheehan, "is just an exercise because we really don't have any hope of expanding the 'ABC Evening News' right now. But we want to be ready in case the day comes."

He said the study, conducted by Frank N. Magid Associates, an Iowa-based news consulting and research firm, simply asks, "What are people looking for if the networks go to an hour or 45 minutes?"

He recalled that when an earlier survey was made of viewer preferences in half-hour network news shows, "what we found quite clearly was that people watching the early evening news broadcasts were looking for a pretty quick summary of what had happened that day."

"Now, what we're looking for is to find out if they just want more of that or whether there's an appetite for longer, analytical kinds of material or 'magazine' kinds of programs."

The idea of a 45-minute or hour-long news show on week nights has been discussed at the three networks for several years. But it still remains only a dream, with nothing definite planned, the networks say.

Until 1963, they only broadcast 15-minute evening news programs. NBC went to a half-hour in September that year, followed by CBS in December. ABC says it adopted the 30-minute format in January 1967.

Right now, the official line at ABC, whose weeknight news show is carried by 197 stations, is that an hour-long version of it will regularly appear within the next five years. But it won't predict which year.

CBS, whose evening news is carried by 194 stations, and NBC, its nightly news carried by 209, also predict hour-long network evening news programs in the future, but they also won't predict approximately when.

Fiber Glass Is Big In Boats

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — If you want photographs of those quaint wooden fishing boats, take your pictures now because they are about to go the way of the old frigates.

Following the lead of recreational boat makers, commercial yards are switching to fiber glass reinforced plastic for the material's safety and durability advantages.

A manufacturing company here, the nation's largest producer of shrimp boats, has been phasing into fiber glass for four years.

School Historian Lives In Old Days

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In his mind, 70-year-old Myron T. Seifert lives in the day of the little red schoolhouse.

McGuffey readers, inkwells, coal-burning stoves and brass school bells—these relics of school history have occupied much of the waking hours of the Columbus man for more than half a century.

"Since I've been in high school I've collected just about anything and everything, but I deal largely with items and articles pertaining to local history," said Seifert, a retired high school journalism teacher.

The results of those decades of historical scrounging jam a Columbus warehouse, awaiting establishment of an educational museum. Columbus school officials indicate the museum may soon come into being.

Seifert estimated that his collection of school memorabilia includes about 12 million stories and newspaper articles on schools in the Columbus area.

"I file everything—good, bad and indifferent," said Seifert. "It's a lot of guesswork, but there's something happening every day that has relevancy to tomorrow and the past."

The Seifert storeroom is a huge

hodgepodge, including besides the famed McGuffey readers and a burned-out stove that once kept a one-room schoolhouse warm a welter of old-fashioned desks, diplomas, class pins, school bells, early toys and even copies of yearbooks and newspapers from many Ohio schools.

Seifert and his wife have researched and filed school artifacts dating back to 1797. Much of the material came from estates of old Ohio families. Some persons sought out Seifert to make certain treasured materials would be safeguarded for the future.

Although a formal educational museum still is a dream of the future, Seifert already has made available his material to the public. Almost daily teachers from city schools bring students to the storeroom to see his collection.

Some days, Seifert reports, he receives a dozen letters and four or five telephone calls from people around the nation seeking historical information.

And, the search for new material continues.

"Why stop now?" he asked. "After all I've been doing this most of my life."

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q.) I work full time, but this fall during the congressional race I will be taking off some time from my job to serve as an election official helping to register new voters and assisting in election booths. I will receive a fee for these services. Is this kind of income taxable?

(A.) Yes, and you must include in your gross income all fees paid to you as an election official.

(Q.) I am a registered nurse and I plan to return to work this fall after a three-year break to be at home with my young daughter. In order to go back to work, I plan to enroll her in a day care center where she will take meals and play supervised learning games as well as receive care. Can I deduct the entire cost of the day care or must I exclude the expenses for food and education?

(A.) Expenses for nursery school or day care for pre-school dependent children may be deducted, subject to certain limitations, if paid to enable you to be gainfully employed. Benefits incident to the care, such as food and education, are not child care expenses. But, if the manner of providing care is such that your payment covers other benefits that are inseparably a part of the care, then the entire cost is deductible as a child care expense.

For example, if a nursery school charges a flat fee that includes lunch, recreational activities, and other benefits, the full amount paid would be deductible. However, benefits will not be considered and inseparable part of the care if the expense includes education in the first or higher grade level. Such expenses must be apportioned between the cost of care for the child and the cost of education. For further information on this subject including limitations on the amount of deductions for child care, consult IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." It's available free at many IRS offices.

(Q.) I am a college student majoring in education. My school has deferred my tuition payments until I graduate and begin teaching in the state. How does this affect my income tax?

(A.) Deferral of a student's tuition obligation to a college or university until the student's later working year is not income to the student and no tax is involved. However, if the debt is eventually forgiven, there is a tax on the amount of the loan in the year the loan is forgiven.

(Q.) I rent out a house that I own. Recently, the tenants requested me to patch some cracks in the cement patio and build a fence across the back of the property. Can I deduct the cost of these projects as rental expenses?

(A.) To be deductible, a repair to rental property you own must not appreciably add to the value, utility or useful life of the property. Incidental repairs which keep the property in efficient operating condition, such as mending leaks, or in your case, fixing the patio, are deductible. Building the fence would add to the value of the house and such an improvement would not be deductible. The cost of the fence, however, may be depreciated over its useful life. For more information on depreciation, see IRS Publication 534, "Tax Information on Depreciation," available free from most IRS offices.

Explorer's Post To Meet Monday

The Explorer's Post 916, of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, will meet 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Common Pleas Courtroom.

Members are reminded to bring ideas and formats of activities for the year.

The post is open to youth interested in law enforcement, between the ages of 15-21.

Honey Production Down This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don't look for the nation's bees to make up for any gaps in the nation's sweet tooth this year.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday honey production in the major producing states is expected to be down about 24 per cent from 1973. Officials said summer drought, which dried up nectar blossoms, is the main reason for decreased production in most Midwest states.

Although the department said the inventory is not strictly a national account, indications are the decline in 20 major honey states means a substantial drop in over-all output.

Business News

Ned W. Harden, Harden Chevrolet, Circleville, has been elected to a key office for his area in a nationwide organization of Chevrolet dealers.

Chosen as representative from his district to the Chevrolet Dealer Council, he will serve as spokesman for 11 Chevrolet dealers in the district at an October meeting of the organization to be held at the zone headquarters in Cincinnati.

The Chevrolet Dealer Council program was pioneered by Chevrolet in 1937. Operating at local and national levels, the organization helps Chevrolet's 6,000 dealers plan toward mutual progress in discussions among themselves and with Chevrolet executives. Among matters discussed are market conditions, business concepts and customer services.

The Chevrolet Dealer Council is organized at district, zone, regional and national levels to correspond with Chevrolet's field sales areas. Dealers in the 435 Chevrolet sales districts elect representatives annually to attend the zone meetings. In meetings at the 48 zone cities these representatives elect from their number regional council representatives. At the conclusion of meetings held in the nine regional headquarter cities, the regional representatives elect members to represent them on the Chevrolet National Dealer Council that meets in Detroit with company executives.

District, regional and national Dealer Council members are elected to a two-year term. Elections are held annually to provide for continuity in office with overlapping terms.

Judge Nixes KSU Motion

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge has turned down a defense motion arguing that the rights of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen were violated because it took the government more than four years to bring them to trial in connection with the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Judge Frank J. Battisti denied Wednesday the motion for dismissal of charges against the former guardsmen.

The eight were indicted by a federal grand jury last March, accused of violating the civil rights of students killed or wounded by national guard gunfire May 4, 1970. Four students were killed and nine wounded in the clash between guardsmen and antiwar demonstrators.

GTE Curtails Expansion Projects

Twelve current expansion projects totaling $641,700 have been deferred in the Circleville district in connection with the curtailment program announced July 24 by General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

The deferrals affect five of the district's eight exchanges, said William D. Anderson, Circleville customer service manager.

Plans are indefinite for completing these jobs, he said. Further cutbacks are contemplated on 1975 projects.

In its July 24 announcement the company said certain work would be postponed or cancelled. Reasons cited were spiraling inflation, rising interest rates and lag by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio on General's 1972 rate increase request.

He said many other planned projects are being completed. But a cutback had to be instituted. The company adopted the curtailment to avoid borrowing more money. Internally generated funds will be used for about 75 per cent of the expansion program. Such funds — earnings, depreciation reserves and deferred taxes — normally support about half of the company's expansion. The rest has to be borrowed.

The company, which has facilities in 79 counties, has deferred 232 projects statewide, he added. This amounts to about $10.5 million to be deducted from the original $64.5 million 1974 budget. Some layoffs also have occurred. A total of 219 contract workers and 60 regular employees have been furloughed to date. More layoffs are expected, he added.
